Japs Being Forced Out Of Aleutians

RUSSIANS MAKE NEW GAIN

Japs Appear Losing Toehold In Aleutians Under U. S. Attacks

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The battle of the southern Solomons moved toward a new climax today, but in the Aleutians Japanese invasion forces appeared to be losing their toehold as reports indicated the enemy had withdrawn from two of the three U. S. islands seized in June.

In the latest report on the North Pacific war theater the navy stated that aerial reconnaissance "has failed to detect any signs of continued enemy occupancy or activity on Attu and Agattu."

In the Solomons American forces still dominated the vital Guadalcanal area captured from the Japanese early in August but latest reports left no doubt that the enemy was preparing for another large-scale attempt to oust the Americans.

At the northern end of the 7,000-mile Pacific front, however, the situation appeared entirely favorable to the United States as American planes continued to blast the Japanese on the island of Kiska.

Toward Final Phase

The Aleutian campaign appeared to be moving toward its final phase under the impetus of a U. S. aerial offensive from new bases in the Andreanof group near Kiska.

The Japanese have made no gains in the North Pacific since the aerial attack on Dutch Harbor early in June and the subsequent occupation of the undefended western Aleutian islands of Kiska, Attu and Agattu.

Since then American army bombers and later pursuit planes have been pounding steadily at Japanese

DONATION DAY IS NOVEMBER 4

Mrs. W. W. Braham Heads Committee For Foodstuffs Contribution To Almira Home

November 4 is the date that has been set for Almira Home's annual Donation Day, according to announcement made today by Mrs. W. Walter Braham, chairman.

On this day friends of the home contribute produce and foodstuffs that can be stored for winter use. In view of sugar rationing and the canned goods situation, the home this year is hoping to receive larger contributions of vegetables and fruits which can be stored and used as needed. Jellies and home-canned fruits and vegetables from those who have any surplus of these to spare will be welcomed.

In normal times, nearly 1000 pounds of sugar are received, which the committee hopes will now be replaced with money to be applied on the home's ration cards.

Many clubs and church societies are designating a meeting day previous to Donation Day when members will bring individual contributions to be taken to Almira Home on November 4.

Serving on the committee with Mrs. Braham are Mrs. R. J. Robison and Mrs. L. H. Thayer.

Lewis And Miners Break With C. I. O.

Lewis Embarks Upon Campaign To Build Third Great Labor Movement

By JACK VINCENT
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 8.—Its ties with the C.I.O. cut by its convention, John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers union will refuse to send a delegation to the C.I.O. national convention next month, it was learned today as Lewis himself embarked on a campaign to build a third great labor movement under his U.M.W.

Lewis, in a dramatic move which showed he still was top boss of the miners, led the U.M.W. out of the C.I.O. at the 37th convention of the union yesterday.

After hearing Lewis say they would have to get a new leader if they did not approve a break with the C.I.O., the convention delegates voted almost unanimously to withdraw from the organization which Lewis founded in 1935 when he broke with the A.F.L.

There was a flurry of opposition to the split but when a standing vote was taken only seven of the 2,800 delegates rose to their feet to say no.

Special Scrap Being Secured

Many Contributions To Vital Scrap Metal Drive Are Reported

Thus far in the scrap drive which starts October 10 the special projects committee, headed by Robert J Tuliy has secured a number of heavy scrap contributions.

The German field piece on the public square was number one on the list, the light poles on the Jefferson street bridge came next, then the girders extending out from the New Castle Notion building on South Mill street and an old fashioned job printing press in the New Castle News.

On Wednesday night the committee conferred with M. J. Scanlon of the Seventh ward relative to the pile of old machinery stored by Mr. Scanlon. He promised to scrap a considerable amount of the old machinery and this will find its way into steel for war materials before long.

Winning Of War Is Secondary To Many

College President Emphasizes Victory Must Come First In Minds Of All

(International News Service)

LEWISBURG, Pa., Oct. 8.—Winning of the war is secondary to many people and as a result victory will be delayed until "the great majority of the American people make up their minds that they want victory in this war above everything else," Dr. Arnaud C. Marts, Bucknell university president and executive director of the state defense council, told Bucknell students today.

In an address at the university's weekly convocation, Marts, who is beginning his eighth year as Bucknell's president, warned that the turning point in the global struggle will come only when victory becomes something more than "a secondary love for many of our people."

"That turn has not yet come," said Marts. When it does, he added, "America will win this war within 12 months."

"To many of us want something else first and then victory," he asserted. "Some want their personal comfort preserved—and victory, too, if possible. Others want their dividends safeguarded—then victory. Still others want high wages and short hours guaranteed—then victory. Others love their political party and hate the opposite party first—then victory second."

PROBE THREE-HOUR FIRE AT WAR PLANT

EASTON, Pa., Oct. 8.—Investigation was launched today of a three-hour fire which destroyed the $200,000 plant of the Warren Sand and Stone company, a war plant, at nearby Carpentersville, N. J.

Firemen were delayed in fighting the blaze because hose lines would not reach to the Delaware river and water had to be pumped from a pond. The plant makes cement and road mix.

Approval Given For Huge Fund To Build Planes

Committee Approves Fund Calling For 14,611 More Navy Planes

MILLIONS ALSO FOR DIRIGIBLES

By ROBERT HUMPHREYS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 — The House Appropriations Committee today approved a $6,326,000,000 supplemental war funds bill, carrying allocations for 14,611 more navy planes, and $36,000,000 worth of dirigibles.

At the same time, the committee made public hearings which indicated that the United States is sold on the strategic value of giant plane carriers and intends to continue to build them.

Approximately 68 per cent, or $3,800,000,000, of the money in the measure, will be expended on naval aviation to achieve "the navy's present objective of 27,500 planes," the committee said in its report.

Although most of the testimony from high naval officials before the committee was secret, that which was released made it clear that neither predictions in some quarters that carriers will soon be outmoded, nor the loss of the Lexington and the Yorktown, will deter this nation's carrier program.

Further, the testimony established that the navy believes its large carriers superior to the smaller ones of Japan.

From the hearings, many parts of which were deleted when made public, it was evident that Undersecretary of Navy James V. Forrestal gave the committee secret testimony on the performance of U. S. carriers, but it was not released.

Two Nazi Puppet Dictators Resign

By LEO V. DOLAN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Oct. 8.—The increasing wave of sabotage spreading throughout Nazi-controlled states in Europe was accompanied today by reports of political upheavals involving the apparent purge of heads of German satellite nations.

Two of Germany's puppet dictators and a premier in territories carved out from the former Yugoslav state were said in reports received from the Continent to have resigned their posts because of "ill health", a phrase commonly used in public announcements of the removal of Nazi officials.

The Quisling dictator of the Nazi-built government of Serbia, General Neditch, and Premier Gerspons, both were reported by the Vichy News Agency to have tendered their resignations.

Rev. Fr. Schirra Accorded Honor

Testimonial Is Given In Ceremonies At Ecclesian Club Last Night

WORDS OF PRAISE HAIL SERVICE HERE

Mere words do not always express adequately the deep feeling and high esteem experienced for an individual, but the oneness of purpose that actuated the group of civic and parishional representatives to speak so highly of the Rev. Fr. Peter M. Schirra, formerly of St. Joseph's church—Wednesday evening at the Ecclesian club—those words can be taken for all they are worth, they were sincere.

Perhaps it was because of his many civic enterprises and associations, or perhaps of the excellent manner in which he served his parish and community for the past five years. Be as it may, the Rev. Fr. Peter M. Schirra was tendered a testimonial last evening held on the premises of the Ecclesian club—a fitting occasion, and one that he will not forget for a long time, for he knows that it was just another way his friends expressed their appreciation.

McAuley Toastmaster

Raymond McAuley, as the toastmaster of the evening, introduced the speakers following the "Star Spangled Banner", and his ad libs and remarks were well received.

The first speaker was Bernard N. Hanlon, a close friend of Father Schirra's. Mr. Hanlon, in addition to expressing best wishes and congratulations, told a few of their personal experiences, relative to their close association, which met with the approval of the audience. He closed bearing good wishes in behalf of the citizens of New Castle.

In speaking of Father Schirra, Emmanuel Shenken, the next speaker, said: "He has done much for our community, and his work not only benefitted Catholics, but every

Germans Press New Assaults In Stalingrad But Russians Hold Firm

MOSCOW, Oct. 8.—Blasting their way through weakening German defenses, Russian troops today captured an important center of enemy resistance northwest of Stalingrad after inflicting heavy casualties on the Nazis.

By JAMES E. BROWN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, Oct. 8.—Red army forces driving down upon the German left flank northwest of Stalingrad today scored a new breakthrough into Nazi defense positions.

Inside the city the Russians recaptured a number of streets which the Nazis had seized in a workers' settlement in the northeast suburbs and continued to improve their positions.

Front line dispatches said that the Germans had been driven back within Stalingrad after almost reaching the banks of the Volga.

Announcement of the latest Russian advance was made in an official Soviet communique issued simultaneously with a broadcast by the Moscow radio which said that the Red army was persistently and methodically breaking up the German defenses northwest of Stalingrad

Flays Hysteria On Manpower Problem

Official Says Plan Is Ready

Further Action Is Awaiting Call For Legislation By President

SAYS NO CHAOTIC CONDITION EXISTS

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—A top-ranking official of the War Manpower Commission today flayed public and press "hysteria" over the manpower problem, declaring that "whenever the President says we need national service legislation we'll have the program ready."

The statement came from Fowler V. Harper, deputy chairman of the commission.

"Now that we've gotten over inflation, everybody is getting hysterical about the chaotic manpower problem," Harper said. "We do not have a chaotic condition in manpower. The government has a program. It is not just hit-or-miss, and it's working."

Harper declined to speculate on when compulsory manpower legislation, giving the government authority to direct every man and woman into the job where he or she can best serve the war effort, will be needed.

"I don't know how long we'll be able to carry on with present measures," he said. "There is no use minimizing our problem, however. When national service legislation is needed and in the President's judgment is necessary, we'll have the program ready."

"The one thing which the public doesn't get is the idea that the government does have a manpower program and is solving problems every day. Problems are increasing, but the situation is not deteriorating. War production and agriculture have not suffered as much as people think."

The general cost of living in Barbados, British West Indies, is about 53 per cent above the September 1939 level, the department of commerce reports.

REDS SCORE NEW BREAK-THROUGH NEAR STALINGRAD

pany in London quoted the Moscow radio as declaring that Soviet attacks were weakening the morale of the Nazi forces and that "the Germans have lost hope of taking Stalingrad in the near future.")

The high command said that the Germans were pressing assaults the Volga river metropolis with undiminished fury, launching attack upon attack under protection of air fleets and artillery barrages, but that the Soviet defenders refused to be thrown back an inch.

Numerous residential areas which had been unaffected earlier in the siege were said to have been turned into a mass of debris by mighty Nazi aerial assaults.

Break Through

The new break-through made by the Russians northwest of the city cost the Nazis heavy losses in men and equipment, the high command said.

"Northwest of Stalingrad," the communique said, "our troops broke into the enemy's positions, inflicting heavy losses."

On another sector the Germans attempted to attack Soviet positions in a desperate effort to stem the onrushing Red troops pounding at the Nazi rear to relieve pressure against Stalingrad. This assault was successfully beaten off, the communique said

Soviet troops in the mid-Caucasus, after previously giving ground in the Mozdok area, repelled a series of new German attacks, according to the communique.

Terrific battles were in progress in the western Caucasus where Soviet units battled Rumanian troops for possession of an important height.

"In all these engagements heavy losses are being inflicted on the enemy," the communique said.

Nazis Lose Many Men

Referring to what was termed a "local action" on the Leningrad front, the communique reported that Soviet units inflicted considerable losses on the Germans when they broke into Nazi defense positions. At the conclusion of the fray, it was added, the Russians returned to their own lines.

At midnight the high command reported that the Nazis lost 1,800 men at Stalingrad during the 24 hours preceding the issuance of the communique.

The Nazi-held city of Rzhev, 135 miles northwest of Moscow, was in flames following a flare-up of new fighting in this sector.

A fierce new battle was started when the Germans threw in two new divisions on the outskirts of the city in an attempt to drive back Soviet forces who gained much territory in this area during a recent offensive.

Russian troops repulsed concerted German assaults and hurled the Nazis back. Several blockhouses were captured. The Russians reported that the Nazis had erected pillboxes and strong points everywhere in the outskirts of the city.

Honors Given To Two Pastors

Rev. W. V. McLean And Dr. B. R. McKnight Honored By Methodists

PROGRAM GIVEN AT FIRST CHURCH

Members of the First Methodist church extended a public farewell to the Rev. W. V. McLean, who was their pastor for the past five years and who has been transferred to Brookville, Pa., and a welcome to their newly appointed pastor, the Rev. Burr R. McKnight, D. D., and his family, on Tuesday evening at the church on North Jefferson street.

Dr. W. A. Womer, chairman of the pulpit committee, was the presiding officer for the evening and several special musical numbers were provided by the church quartet, comprised of Mrs. Edward O'Neil, Mrs. Helen Felch, Earl Hammond and S. R. McCleary, with Miss Lillian Sarver as accompanist.

Program Presented

Prayer was offered by the Rev. Oliver W. Hurst, pastor of the First Baptist church, who represented the New Castle Ministerial Association. Afterwards, there was an appropriate address of appreciation and best wishes for the McLeans and greetings and warm-hearted welcome for the McKnights given by E. B. Bartlett, chairman of the board of trustees. Appropriate remarks were also made by Dr. Norris A. White, a former pastor of the church, and the district superintendent, Dr. W. E. Bartlett of Grove City, spoke kind and earnest words concerning the guests of honor and the work of the church.

Dr. McKnight, the new pastor, who already has won the hearts of his congregation, was called upon and responded in a pleasing way. He was followed by Dr. McLean. As a special privilege, Dr. W. L. Beal, expressing appreciation, presented Mrs. McLean with a box of flowers from the local Rotary club where Mr. McLean has been a member. The benediction was pronounced by Dr. Bartlett.

citizen. A priest of his calibre eliminated prejudice and New Castle was fortunate in having such a good priest in this community."

Parish Member Speaks

John Miller represented the members of St. Joseph's parish and he reiterated the fine accomplishments of the honored guest, and emphasized his interest in many activities. He concluded reading an original script, "Friendship".

Attorney Marshall G. Matheny spoke briefly, stating that although of the difference in their religions, they were considered the best of friends through the association in the same organization, namely, the Rotary club. He complimented Father Schirra on fine work, and said that he was an asset to the church. The Rotary club also sent a token in the form of a bouquet of lovely roses, honoring Fr. Schirra.

We have been hearing a lot of the work effort put into the Ecclesian club by our guest, but one who is in position to "tell all" did last night, the president of the Ecclesian club, Francis J. Frey. Timely remarks were made, and best wishes extended in behalf of the club.

One can not compare the small organization and small club with the one standing today; all this being accomplished within the short time of three and a half years. A tour through the spacious club rooms, well-lighted and furnished, will acknowledge this to be so. And from the home-like club rooms, one enters the bowling alleys adjoining the club—perfect in every minute detail of bowling alleys—that is perfect in every way—except in some of the scores that were bowled last night after the testimonial.

Woman Speaks

A representative of the Women's Ecclesian club was present. Mrs. Catherine Laurel, and in behalf of the Women's group, she wished the honored guest success, and congratulated him on his achievements. An original poem was read by Mrs. Maurice Neilsen, "A Tribute To Our Friend," and dedicated to Father Schirra.

Rev. Fr. Francis C. Streiff, pastor of St. Joseph's church, spoke a few words, to the effect that although we regret at having to lose Father Schirra, his transfer comes as a promotion for St. Mary's church at Beaver Falls, where Father Schirra is now first assistant, is a larger church, and is a great responsibility in itself.

Dr. J. Lumen Popp, also gave fitting remarks, and presented the honored guest with a token, in behalf of all members of St. Joseph's church. The presentation gift from the Ecclesian club was made by Clarence Brown, and in addition Fr. Schirra received a life membership in the club.

Father Schirra Responds

Usually the best is always saved for the end of the program, and following all the complimentary remarks, which made him somewhat self-conscious, Father Schirra, was introduced and addressed the large gathering. He responded by saying that he could not have accomplished what he did, without help of his parishoners and friends. A Junior Ecclesian club is being organized, a fine-tribute in itself, and Fr. Schirra is confident that it will progress rapidly as did the older lodge. And this will also enable the growing boys to use the athletic facilities the Ecclesian club has to offer. Father Schirra concluded by expressing his gratitude, and by thanking all responsible for the committees of the testimonial, and entertainment. His five years here were pleasant, and his associations in the athletic field, he considers a valuable experience.

Entertainment was not a forgotten pleasantry on the evening's program, several vocal selections being offered by a very pretty little miss from Wampum, Paula Cavalier, accompanied at the piano by Rev. Fr. Edmund F. Rowan. The appreciative audience clamored for more, and she responded graciously with an impersonation of Joan Davis. Piano selection was also offered by Audrey Zohosky, of Wampum.

"Holy God We Praise Thy Name," and benediction by Rev. Fr. Edmund Rowan, brought the program to a close .

Special guests of the clergy who attended included: Rev. Fr. Francis M. McCarter, and Rev. Fr. Leo S. Watterson, and Rev. John King, St. Mary's church; Rev. Fr. Edmund Rowan, St. Monica's, Wampum; Rev. Fr. Raymond Vollmer, St. Mary's church, Beaver Falls; Rev. Fr. Albert M. Inteso, St. Vitus church; Rev. Fr. William M. Pisarcik, St. Michael's church and Rev. Fr. John M. Unger, new assistant at St. Joseph's church.

A buffet lunch served by the Women's Ecclesian club, was served following the program, and the evening closed informally.

occupation forces with the result that ouster of the enemy from Kiska may become a reality in the near future.

"In the latter part of September, army aircraft bombed Attu, destroying most of the buildings on the island," the navy communique said. "A study of photographs made during the raid revealed no trace of the enemy on Attu at that time. A similar situation has been observed at Agattu."

Significantly, the navy then added that "attacks by our aircraft on Kiska continue."

"On October 5, army Liberator bombers, escorted by fighters, dropped many demolition and incendiary bombs in the camp area, the navy said. "Hits were made on the seaplane hangar, and six enemy seaplane fighters were shot down. Only light anti-aircraft opposition was encountered and all of our aircraft returned."

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Kritinga, Russia, about a half mile from the border of Germany. The copper pot was brought to America by the little girl's great-grandmother, and it is the wish of her grandmother, Mrs. Fanny Weinberg of South Mercer street, who is now in her 90th year, to "send the pot back to Germany—in bullets."

Pa Newc is informed by men who have been out in the hunting territory recently that there appears to be a large amount of small game in this district this season.

Pa Newc always thought violets bloomed in the spring and either these are a little late for this year or a little early for next year, but anyway, Mrs. Thomas James of R. D. 1, New Wilmington, picked a bunch of violets at the Elliott Ramsey home, near New Wilmington, yesterday.

JAPANESE MAY HAVE ABANDONED CAMPAIGN AGAINST PORT MORESBY

clad mountain range, after advancing to within approximately 30 air miles of Port Moresby there has been little contact between the opposing forces. Only enemy rearguard patrols have been encountered.

Supply Problem Acute

"The Japanese discovered that their supply problems were impossible of immediate solution," the communique stated.

"Their dislodgement at the point of farthest advance, and pursuit of the exhausted enemy troops was accomplished with practically no loss to ourselves.

"The incredibly difficult Owen Stanley range presents almost insuperable complications in maintainance of supply lines for troop units of any size. The same difficulties of the terrain are now progressively slowing down the advance of our ground troops."

Large Area Retaken

London Oct. 8.—Allied ground troops in New Guinea have reoccupied the entire southern slope of the Owen Stanley mountain range in New Guinea with the exception of one small area, Reuter's declared today in a dispatch from Australia.

The whole area has been retaken with the exception of a strip of a few miles between the advance positions north of the village of Kagi and the highest point on the mile-high range. Kagi, which is four miles from the southern end of the gap, was reported to have been passed yesterday.

Native Papuan carriers, who deserted service as carriers for the Japanese, have reached allied lines with stories indicating that the enemy forces were almost exhausted when they began their hasty retreat, according to the Australian correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph agency.

These reports added color to the growing belief that the Japanese campaign against Port Moresby has completely collapsed.

TWO NAZI PUPPET DICTATORS RESIGN

te Pavelitch, had been granted a leave of absence for reasons of health.

Two other Croat officials, Marshal Kverenik, defense minister, and the chief of the Croat army general staff, were said to have left their posts. Marshal Kverenik quit for "a prolonged sick leave", it was said, and the chief of the general staff was relieved of his duties at his own request.

Numerous Nazi heads of states have disappeared from the scene entirely, very often winding up in concentration camps, following announcements of a similar nature.

Advices from Ankara stated that political observers in the neutral Turkish capital believe that dissatisfaction in the Balkans foredooms to failure German hopes to establish a Balkan federation.

Travelers to Ankara report that considerable tension exists between the puppet states in the Balkans and German overlords.

Observers believe the motive behind the German plan for a federation is to strengthen Berlin's control over the puppet countries. This, it was pointed out, would result in increased political and economic bondage to Germany.

Because of the embittered national feeling among peoples of these countries, combined with the hatred of German influence, there is consequent conviction that the Nazi plan cannot become an actuality.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—Britain still remains ready to entertain any suitable proposals for settlement of the Indian question, but she definitely is not bowing to the All-India Congress party, the House of Commons was told today.

L. S. Amery, secretary of state for India, reiterated the government pledge of its willingness to give independence to the sprawing subcontinent.

"But," Amery emphasized, "we are not quitting Indian on anyone's orders . . . we are now bowing to the Congress party which, under Gandhi's influence, has become the party of revolution.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—A Moscow dispatch to Reuters news agency reported today that German authorities in Copenhagen opened fire on Danish patriots who broke up a meeting of Nazis.

Several Danes were wounded.

The patriots rushed in upon the group shouting "out with the Nazis."

A Nazi who was about to address the meeting was pulled from a platform and badly mauled.

Five thousand years old . . . taken as spoils of war on an exchange of turbans, and now part of the Queen's crown . . . such was the sensational history of the Kohinoor (mound of light). This diamond was found on the Godavari River in India and originally weighed 190 carats, but was recut to 108 carats to improve its brilliance. One of its many traditions is the saying that it has never brought bad luck to a woman.

WEIGHING THE FRONTS

AT this stage of the war it is hard to beat—for a cool, calm, calculating size-up of the world-wide situation—that part of London which is called "The City." This is the financial district of London. Its eye covers the globe and it estimates events on apothecary scales.

Well, what does the City think of the fronts at this moment? The concensus of opinion there goes to four points:

Stalingrad. The City says that the struggle there is only incidentally for possession of the place. It is primarily for prestige, both by the Nazis and the Soviet.

Egypt. The City says that the Allies will resume the offensive

The Second Front. The City accepts as a fact that the United States and Britain are planning a gigantic offensive on the continent. It insists that it is idle to speculate where and when the blow will be delivered, but it is sure it will be struck.

The Orient. The City has a decided hunch that surprising moves are in the making in the Far East. Despite much evidence to the contrary, the idea prevails that territory will be achieved in the East rather than in the West.

The latter is the most surprising, to Americans, of all the conclusions reached by the financial district of London. No one in responsible position in the United States has hinted at the possibility that Japan would be defeated first.

OLD HEADS NEEDED

A few years ago one of the famous teams of American business was made up of Gerard Swope, president, and Owen D. Young, chairman, of the General Electric company. Both retired for age at the beginning of 1940. Now war conditions have called both back. Charles E. Wilson, who succeeded Swope, has gone to Washington to be chairman of the production executive committee of the War Production Board. Philip D. Reed, who replaced Young and now is in turn replaced by him, is already on leave as a WPB official.

Army and navy officers who have retired for age are always subject to recall when needed. Other American firms who have lost valuable men through the emergency may likewise find it necessary to avail themselves of old officials who have given up their business connections. There is value in the oldsters still.

FIRE LOSSES SHOW DROP

Figures have just been released by the National Board of Fire Underwriters showing that the total estimated fire loss for the first eight months of this year was $211,172,000, as compared with $211,773,000 for the same period last year.

When the vast industrial expansion that has taken place in this country in war industries during the past year is considered, in conjunction with the millions of inexperienced persons who have gone to work in such industries at jobs with which they were unfamiliar a year ago, this record of a drop in fire losses for the past eight months is truly remarkable. It speaks volumes for the fire prevention activities that have been carried on by civilian as well as official bodies. Also it indicates that our dreaded enemy, the saboteur, has been well controlled and that his fire depredations have been held to a minimum.

The public deserves a large share of the credit for cooperating in all manner of fire prevention activities. It is well to call attention to this drop in fire losses to let people know that their watchfulness has been effective during a critical period when billlions of dollars worth of vital supplies have been subject to the fire menace.

This record should encourage every citizen to continue and increase his efforts to prevent fire, for by so doing he is truly playing a vital part in the war.

ENDING USELESS WORK

If Elmer Davis follows his announced intention of ordering further elimination or curtailment of useless government publicity he will serve the public interest well. His first move was the elimination of 239 pamphlets, handouts and releases and curtailment of 284 others.

Much of the confusion in the public mind has been created by conflicting outgivings of public officials. Many of these statements were hatched in the fertile minds of over zealous press agents striving to build up their bosses.

The effort to make bureaus and individuals more important than they are is not new, but in the multiplicity of agencies now a part of the government it has reached a new high. Much of the publicity is worthless. It only wastes paper and provides unnecessary jobs.

Mr. Davis can go much further in elimination of waste of time, paper and printer's ink. The general opinion among the informed is that he has merely scratched the surface with his first order, which resulted from a study inaugurated several months ago. So far the reductions have been agreeable to the department and bureau heads affected. To do the job thoroughly, Mr. Davis undoubtedly will have to cut deeper. When he does, the public will be the gainer.—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

GOERING TO STARVE THE STARVING

It is sardonically appropriate that the Nazi who assures the German people they shall eat though the people of conquered countries go hungry is the bespangled mastodon, Goering, fattest man in all Naziland, says the Philadelphia Inquirer.

Some of his listeners, not so fat themselves, may have figured accurtely the unspoken corollary to Goering's brutal boast—that by the same token, though Germans go hungry, Goering eats.

But even without that this Siegfried of the Stewpans is not offering the safest comfort to his Nazis. Goering's proposition is that the food of the millions suffering under the crushing weight of Hitler's war machine shall be taken away from them.

What food? There is hardly a spot the Nazis hold in thrall today where hunger isn't stalking the streets and byways. Only a few days ago, in London, Dr. Karl Evang, director general of the Norwegian Health Services, reported that at least 75 per cent of the Norwegian people were suffering from malnutrition because of the extremely serious food shortage—Nazi created, of course.

How much more food for hungry Nazis can Goering glean from the already starving millions of Norway, Greece, the Balkans, France, Holland and Belgium?

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

HELP BUILD COURAGE IN YOUNG PUPIL

Because of children's anguish over school failures some report cards avoid the term, "Failure," and many principals and teachers avoid the use of this word in speaking to the child or his parents. While this procedure does save some children from needless sorrow, the facts cannot long be hidden.

A few school systems, of course, promote, practically all children, aiming to have the teacher receiving the unprepared children, do only the kind of work at which they can succeed. This is a big step forward if the teacher does set the lagging child to do only what he can do well and takes him and his parents into her confidence. Unfortunately relatively few teachers have advanced so far in their thinking and practice.

Whatever the procedure, the child and his parents eventually know when he has not advanced with his class.

Unintelligent

The human, though unintelligent thing most parents, even some teachers, are inclined to do then is to shame and scold the child for his lagging or failure. Some children are brutally compared at home with a more fortunate brother, sister, cousin or playmate; scolded, even beaten when their failing grades come home.

One wonders why any intelligent parent would be so foolish and cruel. They should know that the child, even though he seems to be indifferent toward the failure, is already humiliated and discouraged. They should know that shaming, scolding or other punishment won't inspire the child to want to work harder at his lessons. It will on the other hand make him less ready to do his best.

Correct Procedure

The wise and thoughtful parents will observe the facts, and express neither anger nor condemnation. These parents will sit down together to consider what is the best thing for the child from now on. They will confer, courteously, with the teacher, principal or school psychologist, or with all three, trying to learn all they can about the child, why he failed, what his specific learning difficulties are and what can be done to help him learn. In some instances the parents will consult a psychologist (probably at a nearby college or university, having had the youngster's vision, hearing and general physical conditions first checked.

Success Gives Courage

Whoever tries to help this child now or later at learning should set him to learn in reading, arithmetic, spelling or any other subject, only what he can succeed at, no matter at what grade level this work will have to be. He must succeed in order to gain courage and interest to try harder and enjoy still more success. It may be necessary to require the child to be home at desirable periods and to sit down at his lessons at a definite, regular (but not too long) time. Beyond these requirements force will hinder more than help his learning progress.

The World and the Mud Puddles

DO NOT GUESS

While Americans are eager to jump in with both feet and both hands and their whole hearts and souls to assist in every way they can in the effort to win the war, they must remember that there are occasions for calm judgment, too.

An incident occurred in a factory in Portsmouth, O., which might have been embarrassing not only for the innocent victim, but also for thoes who participated after they had looked at the matter from hindsight.

The incident concerned a woman of Italian extraction. Her fellow workers voiced threats toward her when they learned Italy had declared war on the United States, and a story went the rounds to the effect that she has been disrespectful to the American flag.

Police and factory officials made a thorough investigation which completely exonerated the woman of any unpatriotic act or utterance. Their investigation showed she is a good worker, a patriotic resident, whose family has resided in this country for twenty-four years and her husband, although of Italian extraction too, is an American citizen.

Americans must remember that all of us, one, two or three generations ago, came to this country from foreign soil. Our families were—and many of them still are, a generation back—English, Irish, Scotch, German, Dutch, Italian, Greek, French and a dozen other nationalities. It was these people who made today's American citizens. And among such nationalities today are many more loyal Americans.

The eagerness of Americans to be loyal to their own country and to ferret out any attempt at "fifth columning" in their home city is understandable and should continue. But they should be extremely careful that no innocent victims are hurt by their patriotism It is the Axis Dictators and their ilk with whom this nation is at war; not the natives of their lands who came here to escape.

Words Of Wisdom

It is not only paying wages, and giving commands, that constitute a master of a family; but prudence, equal behavior, with a readiness to protect and cherish them, is what entitles man to that character in their very hearts and sentiments.—Steele.

FLAGS

Red appears in all but a few of the flags of civilized nations.

On all American flags used as regimental colors or standards, a gold or yellow fringe, according to army regulations is required.

The flag of Denmark—a red ensign bearing a white cross, is undoubtedly the oldest flag in existence, it having come into use about 1219.

Prior to the Revolutionary war, there was no flag representative of all the American colonies. Before the Revolution, the pine-tree flag was used by the Massachusetts colony, the rattlesnake flag by South Carolina, and the flag of Rhode Island bore the design of an anchor, while the flag of New York held the design of a beaver.

The white flag is used universally for truce; the black in early times was a symbol for piracy; the red symbolizes mutiny or revolution; the yellow is a sign of infectious diseases.

Strange names often are recorded in the marriage license bureau. Not so long ago a license was granted to Ebenezer Sweet and Jane Lemon. The inquiring reporter who got hold of the long list of marriage licenses had a rhyming as well as an inquiring instinct, and this is what he fixed up for the boys around the copy desk:

Father—"Johnnie, who is the laziest boy in your class?"

Johnnie—"I don't know, Dad."

Father—"Then you ought. This report says while other boys are learning their lessons, there is one who sits in his seat and watches the rest."

Johnnie brightened up. "Oh, that's the teacher, Dad."

Good Taste

WIFE VISITS HUSBAND'S OFFICE

"I have just married and the wife of my husband's partner told me today that she has never visited their office; that men do not like their wives to haunt their offices; also that it is in bad taste for a wife to make such visits. What is your opinion?"—Tony.

Answer: Busy men resent such visits, in their hearts, even though they may not betray their feelings. It is not only wifely visits they resent. The same would be true of parents, sisters, brothers or any other relatives who drop in for purely social social calls. Such visits are likely to suspend the entire office routine.

Really important executives are occupied every moment spent at their desks and even people having business relations with them have to make previous engagements through secretaries and retainers before gaining entrance to their inner sanctums. The visitors' schedule is an endless chain and for anyone—even the most adored of wives, fiancees or daughters—to break through it results in nervousness and strain. And even if a striving husband has not yet arrived at the point where he can afford such protection from an office staff, his wife should have all the more respect for the value of his time. Of course, all such problems depend upon circumstances. Some playboys ornament desks simply because they are sons of the president or some other tycoon. Wives can walk in on them at almost any time without clogging the works. And in any case of emergency to call on her husband at his office, there is no rule of etiquette, personal or official, that should make her hesitate.

Question: It will be necessary for me to wear a tuxedo very soon. Will it be necessary for me to have a black or dark blue overcoat or will my light tan one be appropriate?—Ted?

Answer: A generation ago, all men wore black Chesterfield or Inverness overcoats with their dinner or evening clothes. Even today, of course, many men continue to wear the Chesterfield coat, considering any other type incorrect for evening wear. But motoring has changed styles to a great extent and many well-dressed men now wear heavy ulsters to parties—even formal ones—if they drive their own cars in very cold weather. Of course, the darker the overcoat you wear over your dinner jacket or tail coat, the better you will look. But if your only overcoat is light tan, it will have to do.

It was before rationing had been adopted, and Mrs. Murphy asked the price of a pound of coffee, and the grocer replied, "58c".

"Why, isn't that high," said Mrs. Murphy.

"Well, due to the shortage the price has gone up," replied the grocer.

"What about your ceiling price? Why I can buy the same brand down at Oscar's for 34c"

"Well, why don't you buy it there, then?" asked the grocer.

"Because he is out of coffee," said Mrs. Murphy.

"Well, if I was out of it, my ceiling price would 34c too."

New Suggestions On Secrecy Of Tour Angle Of Safety Is Latest Advance Millions Throughout Nation Knew It

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—President Roosevelt's recent secret war inspection tour of the United States was a secret for safety's sake, it was explained. That is, it was a secret from all but a few millions of people throughout the country. If it was a secret from any of our enemy governments, they'd be well advised to change their espionage agents in our midst. Assuming that that presidential trip was a secret from their present staffs, they can't be very efficient snoopers.

Such an individual as our White House tenant can't mysteriously disappear from Washington for a fortnight without arousing a certain amount of curiosity as to his whereabouts.

Neither can so well known a personality as Franklin D Roosevelt devote his two weeks' absence from the capital to a journey from coast to coast and back again, plus a little side-trip into Mexico, facing a huge crowd at each stop-over, and making an occasional speech in the course of his travels—he can't do it without being more or less identified.

Franklin D. isn't sufficiently unsophisticated not to realize all this.

Consequently, it's a fair conclusion that safety considerations weren't the sole reason for the secrecy order that he slapped, through Censor Byron Price's office, onto the entire Yankee press, until he was ready, himself, to release the accumulated story.

Practice Blackout?

One guess is that the stunt was in the nature of a practice blackout. A make-believe blackout's purpose is to train folk into dousing their lights and hunting cover the minute they hear the sirens. It's educational, but it fools nobody, so far as the U. S. A.'s concerned, and isn't expected to.

Now, what's the chance that the presidential idea in issuing that censorial mandate was simply to accustom the press and its readers to spells of wartime secrecy—not for his own protection or from a desire to choke off the news indefinitely?

Indeed, he didn't want the news choked off, for he broadcast it as

While we are disposing of our scrap let us not overlook the zoot suit boys.

They are mental pygmies in giants' clothing.

No alienist would give a passing mark to a youth whose heels catch in his coat pockets.

Two murders were committed in New York by zoot suit wearers in the past couple of days.

The five baggy-kneed youths involved, smiled for the photographers and rattled their watch chains.

The state will attempt to prove they were sane but it will be a rugged downhill journey.

Parents whose boys have turned zooty are advised to burn the clothes, fumigate, then call the nearest army recruiting station.

Or eventually they will be calling the wagon.

For the zoot suit is more than a freak Prince Albert . . it's a state of mind. And it ain't good.

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT

(Copyright, 1942) By The Baltimore Sun

Mr. Byrnes And Mr. Baruch

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.

THE APPOINTMENT by the President of Justice James F. Byrnes as "economic czar" to direct the fight against inflation has not met with unmitigated approval in the country, but in the main his selection has been well received. It should be.

IT HAS been said of Mr. Byrnes that he has never had any administrative or business experience; that he is a clever politician with exceptional talents as a compromiser and conciliator; that he is a strong partisan and his successes have been achieved by skillful trading on the Senate floor rather than in the larger fields of statesmanship, the law or business. It has been said, too, that with all the outside material from which to choose, it is a pity the President felt it necessary again to turn to the Supreme Court which, unless there was no alternative at all, is the one place to which he should not turn.

ALL THESE things are true; but when they are said, then all that can be said in criticism has been said and the arguments on the other side far outweigh them. In the first place, Mr. Byrnes is a great deal more than just a companionable, charming and effective politician. He is a man of real courage, character and capacity. Also, no one can question the reality of the great personal sacrifice he has made in resigning from the Supreme Court to take on so great a task as this. It was a fine thing for him to do. Despite the intense partisanship which kept him in line for such proposals as the President's Supreme Court packing scheme and his dubious Government reorganiza-

DETROIT — James V. Forrestal, undersecretary of the navy forecasts more action in the Solomons. "So far the Marines have the edge in the Solomons and adequate army and navy support. However, we know the Japs will be back. That precious matter of face-saving is involved."

CHUNGKING — Wendell Willkie following a conference with General Chiang Kai Shek: "It is my personal opinion that the time has come for an all-out offensive everywhere by all the United Nations."

WASHINGTON—William M. Jeffers, in his first broadcast as rubber czar: "This is a nation on wheels and it must be kept on wheels, if the worker does not get to the factory, the soldier won't get to the front."

LOOKING AT LIFE

—By Erich Brandeis

It is gratifying to know that the village of Frelighsburg in Quebec will not change its name to Lidice, as the "Lidice Lives" Committee, headed by Clifton Fadiman, had announced.

Lidice will live without a dozen villages in the United States and Canada changing their names to Lidice.

Lidice will live in the pages of history as the epitome of Hitler's cruelty and stupidity.

After the last war hundreds of streets throughout Europe were named after President Wilson, only to be renamed in this one.

There were Edith Cavell Streets, Foch Boulevards, Pershing Avenues and whatnots.

Down came the signs when the alignments changed.

But Cavell, Foch, Pershing and Wilson will live not for what they were named but for what they were and what they did.

Lidice is a symbol. But it is not the only one.

There are many other villages and towns that have been raped, razed and ruined.

There will be more before this ghastly mess is over.

Let us commemorate this war not by reminders of our foe's misdeeds, but by honoring our heroes who destroyed the foe.

Let us give our children memorials that will teach them not to hate the enemy but to love America.

We are fighting this war not just because we hate Nazism and Fascism, threaten to destroy our sacred Freedom.

Let our monuments be monuments to Freedom!

Conference On State Liquor Store Wage Controversy

By JOHN PAGET
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 8—The State Liquor Control board appeared ready today to settle without reprisals the six-day "liquor holiday" if more than 800 suspended store clerks agreed to drop for the present their demands for a 20 per cent cost-of-living wage increase.

Chairman Frederick T. Gelder told reporters that the board "had agreed that if the suspended employes who walked out Saturday now realize that is incompatible to walk out or to refuse to perform the work that attends to their duties so that there will be no further demonstrations of that kind, the board is inclined to let them come back to work without reprisals."

Wage demands, however, will not be considered at this time and must be made through regular channels, he added. Basic pay for store clerks is $23.07 a week upon appointment and a maximum of $26.53 after three years.

A six-member committee, headed by I. Karl Krischeff, Philadelphia store manager and chairman of the Philadelphia chapter of the state, county and municipal workers of America (C.I.O.) met with the board and took the offer back to the suspended employes for consideration, Gelder said. Their decision was expected to be given the board this afternoon, he added.

Missionary Speaks At Dinner Of Clubs

Kiwanians Host To Rotary, Lions, For Rev. McGill's Talk

New Castle Kiwanians acted as hosts last night when members of the Rotary and Lions clubs joined them at dinner in The Castleton to hear Rev. Willis A. McGill, youthful Egyptian missionary, now home from duty, describe his mission experiences and his perilous air flight from his mission post to the United States.

Rev. McGill was introduced by Dr. D. L. Ferguson, pastor of Highland U. P. church, which sponsors him in the mission field.

William O. (Red) Williams, member of the Lions, led the crowd in singing during the evening.

The dinner was a regular one for the Kiwanians and Lions. It marked another in a series of interclub get-togethers here.

The Kiwanians, on Wednesday, Oct. 14, will conduct a "songfest" at their regular luncheon meeting, William R. Hanna announced.

News Briefs From City Hall

Relative to a statement issued by Chief of Police Willis McMullen, Wednesday, concerning the reported refusal of the fire department to allow the use of the rescue squad ambulance to remove an ill man from a Long avenue apartment, Fire Chief James Thomas today requested that a statement be carried as follows: "In regard to the statement of Police Chief Willis McMullen I wish to say that this ambulance is for emergency cases concerning rescue work and is not to be used as an ambulance for individuals or as a patrol wagon."

Council met today in city hall and requested bids for the paving of Sherman street. Bids for material for the resurfacing of streets where street car rails were removed, excepting those thoroughfares characterized as state highway continuations, will be read to council at 10 a. m. Friday.

Thomas C. Moore, general manager of the Shenango Valley Transportation company today told council in city hall he would investigate the feasibility of routing Seventh ward buses in such a way that P. R. R. engine house workers may be carried to and from work. However, he explained federal authorities frown on any extensions and said that he did not desire to accommodate a few to inconvenience many. Request for service in the early hours of morning for railroaders has been referred by Solicitor R. M. White to the Public Utilities Commission.

Ford auto, Pennsylvania license 1FSS7, owned by Cosmos Theodosis, Hanna street, was stolen from Long avenue last night, it was stated to police today.

Lewis D. Schatzle, of Jamestown, N. Y., was sent to the county jail from city police court today in default of a $10 fine for alleged intoxication and disorderly conduct at the bus station. He was arrested by Policeman Harry Flinner.

Alec Natale, Fred Colea and Ed. Kwat were arrested by Patrolman Jack James early this morning for alleged gambling on the Public Square, and when they appeared late for a hearing in police court today, Mayor Charles B. Mayne ordered their $10 forfeits confiscated. It was reported that many complaints have been received recently concerning the actions of other persons on the Public Square, and police have determined to prevent loitering.

Alleging that two autos sped by him last night at a high rate of speed, Cruiser Operator Ray Showalter pursued the autoists with the result that one of them, Albert Grove, paid a fine of $20 and the other autoist has been ordered into traffic court. They were the first arrests since signs were placed in some thoroughfares denoting a 25 miles speed limit here. They were traveling more than 35 miles an hour, which is the state highway speed limit, according to Patrolman Showalter's report.

MAYOR OF ERIE FACES CHARGES

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., Oct. 8.—Mayor Charles R. Barber, County Commissioner Helen M. Schluraff and Police Sergeant Joseph Lynch stood indicted today by the Erie county grand jury which has been investigating alleged corruption in the city police department.

The mayor and Lynch were charged with malfeasance in office while Mrs. Schluraff was indicted on perjury charges.

Edward M. Murphy, city solicitor, declared that the mayor would not be removed from office but would continue to serve until the charge against him has been disposed of by the courts. Technically, the mayor is charged with attempting to "stifle a prosecutor" by allegedly trying to persuade a witness to change his testimony in the trial of Dan House, on charges of allegedly operating a disorderly house.

Following notification of his indictment, Mayor Barber urged the people of Erie to "reserve judgment until such time as all of the facts are properly and legally made known."

"I feel certain," he said, "that a full disclosure . . . will result in complete vindication of myself and my administration."

Giving up freedom in order to save freedom won't hurt us. Doesn't the cop break the speed law to catch speeders?

Nominate 5 Of Jap Descent In Hawaii

Congressmen Concerned Over Primaries, Though Nominees American Citizens

By JAMES OLDS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8—Concern was expressed in some congressional quarters in Washington today over the fact that five American-born Japanese have been nominated for public office in Hawaii.

The Japanese were nominated in Sunday's primaries. Seven of them were running for office, and all but two won nomination in Japanese populated districts. One of them was nominated for the Hawaiian House of Representatives.

Rep. Gossett (D) Texas, a member of the House insular affairs committee, said he questioned "the wisdom of allowing anyone of Japanese descent to hold public office, particularly in the Pacific territories."

"A Jap is a Jap," said Rep. Cunningham (R) Iowa. "Under our constitution, anyone who holds American citizenship has a perfect right to run for office. However, if there is anything wrong with them, it's up to the voters to see that they are not elected."

Sen. Tydings (D) Md., chairman of the Senate territories and insular affairs committee, said there is no legal authority to deny Hawaiian-born Japanese the right to run for office.

Loyalty To Christ

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Calling of Matthew

"What things were gain to me, these have I counted loss for Christ."
—Phil. 3:7.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Oct. 11, is Mark 2:14-17; John 6:66-69; Philippians 3:7-11, the Golden Text being Philippians 3:7, "What things were gain to me, these have I counted loss for Christ.")

Loyalty is a word we hear frequently these days. We are loyal to our country in these trying times; doing everything we can to help in the cause of righteousness, liberty and truth. We are loyal to our families, to our friends, to our jobs. But loyalty to Christ—to the ideals that He taught—lies at the bottom of all other loyalties. If we are loyal to Him and try earnestly to follow Him, other loyalties naturally follow.

The first episode in our lesson today is found in Mark 2:14: As Jesus passed by the place where Levi, publican, collector of the tolls which the Jews were made to pay to their masters, the Romans, was sitting at the "receipt of custom", Jesus said to him, "Follow Me." Levi straightway left his post and followed Him. Levi (Matthew to us) was the only one among Christ's followers who followed the calling of tax collector. "Publicans and sinners" was the way in which the Jewish people linked the men who collected the tribute, and they were hated by all. There was a great deal of chance for graft, as we call it today. A certain amount of money must be turned into the government, but all above what they must turn in was counted theirs by men like Levi and those working under him. So they squeezed more and more money out of the people to enrich themselves. No wonder they were hated. Jesus, however, saw something in Levi that made Him invite him to join His band of followers.

Levi Makes a Feast

Levi evidently made a feast at his house that night to celebrate his acceptance in the group of disciples, and Jesus ate with them. Many people followed Jesus and His disciples, and among them were men high in the service of the Jewish religion, scribes and Pharisees. When these men saw Jesus eat with these people, they asked the disciples, "How is it that He eateth and drinketh with publicans and sinners?" Jesus answered, "They that are whole have no need of the physician, but they that are sick: I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance."

The next reference is John 6:66-69 and tells us of the first recorded disloyalty to the Master. He had been explaining to a great mass of followers who had been fascinated by His teachings and miracles, that He had been sent from heaven to save sinners, and only as they accepted Him and prepared to partake of the "bread of life," which was Christ, and drink His blood, which was to be shed for them, could they attain everlasting life.

The Jews could not understand this. Was He not Jesus, son of Joseph, whom they all knew? How, then, could they eat His flesh and drink His blood? Many left Him then, "went back, and walked with Him no more." They had not faith in Him, you see, to follow Him all the way, but left Him at the first hint that sacrifice might be demanded of them.

Jesus turned to the twelve, and, by the way, this is the first time the twelve have been mentioned. "Will ye also go away?" he asked.

Simon Peter Answers

Simon Peter, always the spokesman for the group, answered, "Lord, to whom shall we go? Thou hast the words of eternal life. And we believe and are sure that Thou art that Christ, the Son of the living God."

Jesus' message was a different one. To be loyal to Him we must, as Paul says, "know Him and the power of His resurrection, and the fellowship of His sufferings." Even little children can "know Him" if they listen to the stories told about Him, and try to do as He would do. He only grew angry when there was cruelty and injustice, hypocrisy, lying and cheating. He was kind to all—sinners as well as saints. He suffered many things. He suffered for the sins of men, in being misunderstood by others; in knowing that the world hated Him, and at last He suffered physically on the cross.

His true followers are loyal to Him, not only in trying to do His will and live the life He would have them live, but in being willing to give up their lives, if need be, to follow Him.

Raids On Europe Help To Russia

R. A. F. Bomber Command Planned Nightly Raids During Battle Of Stalingrad

International News Service

LONDON, Oct. 8.—The Royal Air Force bomber command has made a special effort to help Russia during the battle of Stalingrad, authoritative British circles said Wednesday.

"Most formidable" air raids have been carried out on Nazi Europe it was said. Sorties were staged on 12 nights duing the first 20 days of September alone, with between 5,000 and 6,000 tons of bombs dropped.

Unfavorable weather has hampered operations recently, it was pointed out, but regular 1,000-plane nightly raids "are still well under the ultimate aim of the high command."

OCD NOTES

Activities Of O. C. D. Workers Are Outlined In This Column

ABOUT 1800 IN WORK

Approximately 1,800 persons are engaged in OCD work here it was anounced by Frank Sargent, chief air raid warden who acts as assistant to City OCD Director David O. Davies.

Of the 1,800, almost 1,000 have been certified and sworn in for action. The remainder are in training and new classes are being formed daily, hence the OCD has a small army here.

MEET TONIGHT

Tonight at 8 o'clock in the basement of St. Mary's church, North Beaver street, a new class of air raid wardens, fire watchers and messengers will begin work. They will come from the Second precinct of the First ward. In addition, any person from any part of the First ward is invited to attend the meeting.

FUTURE METHOD

Air raid wardens in the senior class and also those acting as such will receive today or within the near future methods to be in force during alerts or black-outs. It will eliminate telephone calls which require too much telephoning.

WELL IN HAND

Frank Sargent has been studying the school situation relative to precautions during air raids, practice or actual, and he asserted today school officials have it well in hand. He said local hospitals also have arranged a good system and that public buildings are supposed to have persons in charge, subject to the command of their superior.

NOT FURNISHING SIGNS

"We are not furnishing any signs. We are providing specifications for them," said Frank Sargent today. This means a post commander can secure specifications for the signs and then his post can pay for them because no money has been allotted by the state, county, or city to the city OCD.

WAR CRIMES TO BE TRIED, PUNISHED

(International News Service)

LONDON, Oct. 8.—Lord Chancellor Viscount Simon announced in the House of Lords Wednesday that it is proposed to establish a United Nations commission for investigation of war crimes.

This coincided with President Roosevelt's reiteration in Washington that the United States intends to see that "just and sure punishment" will be meted out to perpetrators of war crimes.

The announcement followed outspoken debate, during which punishment of war criminals was demanded.

Ask French Move From Raid Areas

(International News Service)

LONDON, Oct. 8.—The British radio Wednesday warned the people of France "on behalf of the United States" to evacuate places where work is being performed by or for Germans, because of increasing American raids on France.

In a French service broadcast, BBC said:

"Bombs which fall on France are not aimed at the French people, but only and exclusively against the Nazis and against all that is done in occupied France for the sake of Germany."

Jap Air Power In New Guinea Reinforced

By PAT ROBINSON
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, Oct. 8.—Japanese air power apparently has been reinforced in the enemy bases in the New Guinea area, pilots of Allied bombing planes reported today following their return from successful raids on Buna, Sanananda and Rabaul. Flying Fortresses and medium bomber squadrons dropped thousands of pounds of explosives on the three ports, starting huge fires in fuel and ammunition dumps.

The Allied raiders encountered terrific opposition from Japanese anti-aircraft batteries and swarms of Zero fighters which battled the bombers fifty minutes. Twenty Zeros met the Allied planes over Rabaul, offering the fiercest resistance encountered in many weeks.

Three Allied bombers failed to return from the series of raids and several others were damaged during the dogfights that raged before and after the raiding planes dropped their bomb loads on the targets.

The enemy suffered heavy losses but no exact figures of destroyed and damaged Zero fighters were announced.

One of the Flying Fortresses piloted by Lieut. Fred Wesche of Roselle, N. J., was attacked by fifteen Zeros.

"One came in so close it almost hit our tail turret," said Wesche. "Sergt. Al Kennedy of Philadelphia got the Jap as he banked away and he spun towards the sea in flames.

"Corp. Don Rather of Indiana, Pa. operating a side gun, got another. I could see his tracers pouring into the enemy ship. We came through with nothing more than a few holes in the wings."

Two other enemy fighters were claimed by gunners Sergt. Joe Watesky of Wyoming, Pa., and Corp. Joe Bayles of Ittabana, Miss. Their ship, piloted by Maj. John Rouse of Rochester, N. Y., was attacked by six Zeros.

The action was so fast and heavy that the fliers were not at all certain how many enemy planes were hit. They said it was likely that some of the Zeros were hit by two or more Allied planes, and that all believed they alone were responsible.

The Great Game Of Politics

tion bill, he is much too clear-headed, privately, to approve all the New Deal vagaries and trends. One of the strange things about politics is that so often a sincere man's loyalty to party and to his party organization makes him support measures which, and men whom, in his heart and in his mind, he does not approve. Mr. Byrnes has been that kind of a Democrat. The fact that a thing was sponsored by his party or his party leader has gone a long way to make it right with him.

THIS IS the kind of support he has given the President. That was why he was named to the Supreme Bench, and undoubtedly that, in the President's eyes, is one of his qualifications for his present post. From the beginning of the war the Roosevelt trend has been to put into the key posts men in political accord with himself—or, at any rate, to put in none who have forcefully opposed him. For this position, second in power only to his own, it was a foregone conclusion that he would not name an anti-New Dealer. Accepting that as a fact, Mr. Byrnes is clearly the best that could be hoped for. Certainly he is better than his colleague on the Court, Justice W. O. Douglas, the idol of the more advanced New Dealers, who was mentioned for the place. And certainly he is better than Mr. Henderson, now reduced to a secondary role.

PERHAPS THE most encouraging thing about Mr. Byrnes in his new job is his personal closeness to Mr. B. M. Baruch. There is between them a deep friendship of many years' standing, and it seems likely that Mr. Byrnes, in a field foreign to him, but very familiar to Mr. Baruch, will rely more upon the latter's advice than upon any other. And that is fine, because Mr. Baruch's experience, research and ability make him the best adviser in the country on these matters. The fact is that with the Byrnes appointment the Baruch influence in the war effort management reaches a new high, all the more notable because he has no official standing at all. The recent reorganization of the WPB has been upon the line urged by him, and the new men are largely those recommended by him. Coupling this with the remarkable job he did in his rubber report and now adding the selection by the President of one of his closest friends for "Director of Economic Stabilization," the reasons Mr. Baruch's influence is far more potent than before can be understood.

IN THE early days of the war effort, though concededly the most experienced and informed man in the nation on the whole business of war production, Mr. Baruch's advice was disregarded and he, himself, pushed aside. The way in which, one by one, the things he urged are now being done is an extraordinary tribute not only to his soundness but to his patient, untiring and disinterested persistence. Various steps he has advised still remain untaken, but many of those which from the start he insisted were basic have been, at least partially, taken. All of which causes regret that, at incalculable cost, nearly two years should have been lost in taking them.

What's What At A Glance

vociferously as possible when he thought the right time had come.

Probably the truth is that one of his reasons for keeping on a temporary husher was to get the public upon the qui vive, in order to create all the more of a sensation when, finally, he took the cork out.

Another explanation's suggested. It's this:

F. D. R. decided on that transcontinental expedition and didn't want to postpone it, for this was an appropriate juncture, to see what's stirring and to boost enthusiasm.

From a political standpoint, it didn't look quite the right time for the round-up, though. Congressional election day was then little more than a month ahead, and it was obvious that opposition newspapers would describe the affair as unadulterated campaigning in administration candidates' interests.

It doesn't appear that F. D. R. did do any actual plugging for those of his own preference, though his mere presence in their various bailiwicks may have been helpful to 'em.

Anyway, the press was gagged during the whole performance.

Critics' Punch Lost

Since it's been all over, such papers as have chosen to do so have been in a position to holler "politics" and some of 'em have done so, but it was belated enough to have lost most of its pungency. For maximum effect, their outcry should have accompanied the trip instead of having followed it.

But to sum up!

If that tour was a secret, except literally as a matter of printers' ink, while genuinely in progress, so was the weather during the same period.

The observer's entitled to his own deduction:

1. Was secrecy decreed to suppress politics talk until too late for it to be of much consequence? 2. Was it decreed with a view to stimulating public interest in the mystery while it REMAINED a mystery, thus giving the final solution all the better advertising? 3. Was it decreed to teach the press how to "behave" under censorial orders? 4. Was it just smartness on the president's part? 5. Was it decreed as a measure of safety?

Affirmatives in response to Nos. 1, 2 and 3 might be, each, a reasonable percentage of a tolerably good collective guess. I wouldn't leave an affirmative to No. 4 entirely out of consideration.

As to No. 5—

Phooey!

Penn State Women Take Farm Course

Agriculture School Enrolls One Woman For Every Ten Men This Semester

STATE COLLEGE, Oct. 8.—About one of every 10 students enrolled in the school of agriculture at the Pennsylvania State College this semester is a woman.

Dean S. W. Fletcher revealed that 85 co-eds are among the 924 students enrolled in the school. The most popular course of study with the women, is the medical technology field in the department of bacteriology. Forty-one women are studying to become technicians in hospitals and medical laboratories.

Bacteriology has attracted 17 co-eds, while agricultural and biological chemistry ranks a close third with 15 women enrolled. Other curricula and co-eds enrolled are: horticulture, four; animal husbandry, botany, zoology, and entomology, two each; and dairy husbandry and pre-veterinary, one each.

The women enrollment by class is 11 seniors, 15 juniors, 31 sophomores, and 28 freshmen.

Lack of "bulk" may be your difficulty

If you're feeling "low," dragged out, not quite up to par, consider this: In these war days your living habits are all upset. Meals especially are likely to be hurried, improperly balanced. And you're apt to forget the importance of adequate "bulk" in your diet.

Yet the lack of this one food essential is one of the common causes of wartime constipation. For this trouble, medicinal laxatives are but temporary remedies; they don't get at the cause.

If this is your trouble, you need more "bulk"...and KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, a delicious crisp cereal, supplies it in tempting, appetizing form. Eat ALL-BRAN regularly, drink plenty of water and "Join the Regulars." Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

Protests Scrapping Of Memorial Cannon

Aunt Of Late General Butler Indignant At Move Approved By Residents

(International News Service)

WEST CHESTER, Pa., Oct. 8.—Indignant protest came Wednesday from the aunt of the late Gen. Smedley D. Butler, USMC., against scrapping of two Nicaraguan cannons presented by the Marine hero to Chester county in 1914.

Miss Isabel Darlington, West Chester attorney, made public a letter in which she deplored "such vandalism of county property." After the field pieces were removed from the courthouse lawn, Miss Darlington declared:

"I was inexpressibly shocked to see tossed on the scrap pile of out-dated bathtubs and kitchen sinks, the cannons which my nephew gave to the country he loved, as a memorial to the Marine Corps, which he so loved and served gallantly."

The Chester county board of commissioners said they ordered the relics scrapped after residents approved the measure. Nearly a ton apiece, the three-inch caliber weapons were given to General Butler by Adolfo Diaz, former president of Nicaragua.

Man Catches Up On Late War News Late

(International News Service)

DANBURY, Conn., Oct. 8.—Someone should have told him but they didn't so Everett Jackson didn't know until Wednesday that the United States was at war.

Arrested on a morals charge, the 41-year-old prisoner couldn't understand what police were talking about when asked if he had registered for the draft. Informed that the United States had entered the war 10 months ago, Jackson said:

"I heard there was a war but I didn't know America was in it."

Vichy Warned Of Future Bombings

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles served a new warning Wednesday on the Vichy government, that French factories working for Germany will be bombed by United Nations air forces at every opportunity in the future.

Commenting on London reports that the British Broadcasting Company had advised French people to evacuate industrial areas, Welles said that such a message would be in line with this government's policy.

Classes Start At Smith For WAVES

NORTHAMPTON, Oct. 8.—Classes for 500 "Waves," training to become naval officers in order to relieve men on active shore duty, started today at Smith College.

First instructions issued to the newly arrived "Waves," vanguard of 900 who will train as members of the Women's Naval Reserve, came from Capt. Herbert Underwood, U.S.N., commandant of the school. Cocktail lounges and bars at Northampton, he decreed, would be "out of bounds" until the girls win their stripes after a month's indoctrination. He also ruled out smoking on the street.

N.Y.A. Center Here Will Train Many More Girls For War Industry Work

For social purposes we prefer women who wear hats, even those hats that look like a fugitive from a New Year's Eve party. But for utilitarian purposes during a war we're going to break down and confess that those Martian looking headgears welders wear look mighty chic on a young lady.

And they're wearing them this season out at the National Youth Administration training center in Cunningham park. Women welders. Sounds a trifle balmy but its the truth and if we're any judge of welding the gals are doing a mighty good job as students.

And Lathe Operators

That goes for the girls in the machine shop, too. There's a smudge of grease where a spot of rouge might ordinarily be, and the lines over the eyes weren't made by an eyebrow pencil but by a greasy glove. But they're running those lathes, tool grinders surface grinders, shapers, milling machines, drill presses and engine lathes, and doing a grand job.

From those lathes comes a small calibre projectile container every five minutes and in a short time when another production line gets under way they'll be dropping at the rate of one every two and a half minutes 24 hours a day. That means nearly 600 cailing cards for Adolf every time the clock goes around.

Not all of the 250 youths at the center are girls. Only about 25 per cent of them just now but here's a secret. Work has been started on the conversion of the dormitories to provide for an all-girl camp or nearly all girls. The reason is obvious. Young men 18 and 19 will soon be called up by the draft and industry doesn't want young men that age now. Uncle Sam does and your uncle wins. Hence the necessity of taking only girls into the center. Boys accepted between 18 and 25 will be in class 4-F.

Small Military Camp

The training center looks like a miniature army camp. From the porch of the administration building you look southeast to a group of barracks like buildings. One is a machine shop, one is a welding shop, one is a mess hall, one is a recreation building and six are dormitories. New roads have been built through the camp, the dormitories are ready for cold weather and the mess hall has an inviting odor in it.

Over in the recreation hall you will find young men and women playing table tennis, playing the piano, reading magazines or inhaling some ice cream. Back in the room at the end of the building you will find a class in session where mathematics and blueprint reading are being taught, for the students have related theory to study along with their actual work in the shops.

All Business Now

There was a time when the NYA smacked somewhat of a fine spot for a boy to enjoy life at the expense of the government. Those days are gone. There's a business-like air around the shops, there's a serious look upon the faces of the boys and girls, they're doing a war job and they haven't time for monkey business.

There's lots of room for girl enlistees out at the center. Particularly girls from New Castle. They live at home at nights and for the present the out of town girls live at the Crawford Oak Ridge. Soon the dormitories will be converted into girls' dorms and the girls can all live in the camp, save for the New Castle girls who will still be permitted to go home at night.

Although the government is teaching trades to the youths out there they aren't doing the work for nothing. They are paid $30 per month of which $20 goes back into the mess fund. New Castle girls are paid $24 per month and given lunch but because they do not sleep in camp or at the Ridge, and do not get their lunch or dinner in camp, they keep the $24.

At the end of three months they are examined for their ability as welders or machine shop operators. If they pass, and they usually do, there's a job waiting for them at good money, jobs welding airplanes, ship plates, lathe jobs turning out shells and gun parts in some plant.

Scattered Widely

Graduates of the center are now earning good money in plants scattered from New Castle to the Atlantic seaboard.

They need girls to train out at the center now. Working in a war plant has become fashionable these days. If you feel the urge to weld some plane parts for that sweetie of yours who is in the air corps, or you want to help turn out guns and ammunition for the boy friend who is in the infantry or artillery, here's a grand chance to do it.

Applications for enrolment may be made to John Simmons, NYA personnel agent in room 212 Woods block at the corner of East Washington and Mill streets.

A new project manager has recently come to the NYA center, H. R. Neill. Mr. Neill is not entirely a stranger to New Castle for in 1927 he played on the Donora high school football team that gave New Castle a rather grim battle at Taggart stadium, the game ending in a 7-7 tie.

With him are O. J. Orino, personnel director; Chester O. Blackford, finance officer; Royal S. Watterman, shop superintendent; F. P. Simpson, supervising foreman of the machine shop, and a corps of instructors, mostly New Castle craftsmen.

It is an interesting place, the NYA training center. Day and night, 24 hours per day the work goes on, training young people for war industry and doing a good job of it. But if we may repeat, in the future, the enrolments will be from girls between 18 and 25, with a few 4-F boys taken.

As we said in the first paragraph, we like women who wear hats for social purposes, but right now with a war going on we'll settle for a girl with a welder's helmet. It doesn't compete with a cosmetic counter as a beautifier, but beauty these days is measured in terms of guns and armament.

Metal Scrap Pile In State Growing

Salvage Committee Reports 79,597 Tons Collected From 55 Counties

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 8.—Pennsylvania's pile of salvaged steel and iron scrap continued to grow as the state salvage committee reported Wednesday that 79,597 tons had been collected in 55 counties for the war effort.

Philadelphia continued to lead the counties in the amount of salvage collected with 11,945 tons, followed by Cambria county with 8,521 tons. Allegheny county was third with 5,741 tons, followed by Lehigh 5,038, Berks 4,078, Chester 3,697, Crawford 3,400, Lancaster 2,570, York 2,370 and Luzerne 2,356.

The scrap collecting campaign is scheduled to end Oct. 17. Salvage officials have warned that 3,000,000 tons of iron and steel scrap must be collected in Pennsylvania by the end of the year if the state's steel mills are to continue production unimpaired.

Brazil Gets New Wartime Economy

Government Providing For Compulsory Purchases Of War Bonds To Aid In War Program

(International News Service)

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 8.—Brazil was well on her way to a new wartime economy program Wednesday following decrees by President Getulio Vargas providing for compulsory war bond purchases, and the signing of agreements with the United States for the export of $166,300,000 worth of coffee, cocoa, Brazil nuts and rubber.

All persons subject to income tax will be required to purchase war bonds in an amount equivalent to the sum of their tax payments, and payroll deductions of three per cent will be made for bond purchases.

Brazil's rubber factories are turning out 500,000 tires and tubes yearly, but gasoline rationing and bans on private automobiles have reduced Brazil's consumption to 20 per cent of this volume, leaving 400,000 tires for export to other South American nations. This surplus will relieve American manufacturers of a large part of their export obligations, it was pointed out.

The trade agreement provides for the purchase by the United States of $154,000,000 worth of coffee, $11,000,000 worth of cocoa and $1,300,000 worth of Brazil nuts.

Greensburg's Scrap Drive Huge Success

(International News Service)

GREENSBURG, Pa., Oct. 8.—Better than 350 tons of scrap metal were gathered in Greensburg Wednesday as firemen co-operated with the Greensburg Tribune-Review in a general attempt to collect all of the city's scrap in one day.

So great was the response that local scrap yards were pressed to handle the tonnage immediately. A goal of 100 tons had been set, with 50 trucks and 200 firemen volunteering their services in the drive.

Greensburg's population is 21,000.

HOW TO WASH PANTS IN JUNGLE

It's not just a matter of sending them to the cleaner's when you want a pair of pants cleaned in the jungle outpost of some of the American forces in the Pacific. United States Army nurses stationed on the French island of New Caledonia in the South Seas demonstrate, above, how they wring out the khaki pants after washing them in a pail. The crease? That's fingered in while the pants are wet, and then they are carefully hung over a hanger. The nurses are, left to right, Esther Boyer, Bellevue, O.; Mary Gregorzyn, Philadelphia, and Maueline Mayberry, Schuylkillhaven, Pa.

Ten In Kiska Raid Given Purple Heart

President Cites 3 Officers, 7 Men Of Bomber Shot Down In Raid On Japs

(International News Service)

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Oct. 7.—(Delayed)—Three officers and seven enlisted men, reported missing in action after their heavy bomber was shot down in flames over Kiska, were awarded the Purple Heart today at the direction of President Roosevelt by Major General Simon B. Buckner, Jr., Alaska defense commander.

Their plane, leading a flight of heavy bombers attacking Japanese naval forces at Kiska, had made one run over its target and was starting a second run when it was shot down.

New World's Record For Rolling Steel

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 8.—A new world's record for rolling steel was set by the crews of the No. 18 rolling mill in the Pittsburgh works of Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation, it was announced Wednesday.

They produced, during September, more than 42,000 net tons of steel for countless war projects, exceeding the previous record established by this same mill by 12½ per cent, the company reported.

SOLDIERS NOT INTERESTED

It begins to appear as if the service men and women from Lawrence County are much too interested in winning the war to be bothered about politics. Only 15 requests have come in for service ballots which isn't a large proportion of over 4,000 men in service.

A great deal of outcry was made in Congress about the service men and women voting. Pages of congressional record were cluttered with words calling upon Congress to do something. The answer appears to be that the men and women in service have more important matters to attend to.

GETS A YEAR

Floyd "Dory" Peters was sentenced Wednesday morning to pay a fine of $200 and costs and undergo imprisonment in the Allegheny County workhouse for one year upon the charge of maintaining a gambling establishment.

"Dory's" downfall seemed to happen some weeks ago. District Attorney Leroy K. Donaldson was standing on a street in Ellwood City when a colored man handed him a business card advertising "Dory's" place. Although he had no license to sell, Dory advertised liquor. The district attorney had an idea this was against the law.

An investigation was made and Dory was found to be running a gambling establishment. It isn't Dory's first brush with the law but for the next year he will be putting out down at Aspinwall.

Strategy Of War In Far East Discussed By Major Raborg

(Editors' note:—The strategy of the war in the East is discussed in the following article by Major Paul C. Raborg, noted military analyst and author of "mechanized might.")

By MAJOR PAUL C. RABORG
(Written Especially for International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—A Japanese heavy cruiser has been seriously damaged and eleven Zero fighting planes shot down, while the cruiser, in company with a number of destroyers, was attempting to land Nipponese reinforcements on the Island of Guadalcanal during the hours of darkness.

These serious efforts on the part of the armed forces of Nippon to oust our marines from the Solomon islands, is proof positive of the strategic importance of our victory in that area. But "the man in the street" frequently wonders what decisive strategy is involved in all this fighting over these comparatively small South Sea islands.

To answer the question requires a brief outline of the fighting that has occurred in the Pacific area since December 7th when Japan struck her sneak blow against us.

Plan Of Japan

First, the Nipponese hoped to eliminate a large part of our battle fleet by her attack on Pearl Harbor. In this she failed. Next, Japan had established bases in French Indo-China for the main purpose of capturing the Malayan peninsula, Burma, and the Dutch East Indies, because the empire of the Rising Sun cannot live without the raw products in these British and Dutch possessions.

For the Japanese to conduct this war of invasion, and in all cases have the use of land-based airplanes, it was then necessary for them to capture our Philippine islands in order to make a protected sea lane from the Japanese islands to French Indo-China. With the Island of Formosa, the Philippines entirely blocked off the China and South China seas thus giving the desired line of supply.

All these objectives were accomplished. The Malayan peninsula, Burma, and the Dutch East Indies fell. Next in basic strategy, it was imperative for the Japanese to threaten the Western hemisphere and if possible block any invasion route, air or otherwise, from Alaska through the Aleutian islands that we might direct against Japan. Accordingly, the armed forces of the Rising Sun seized Attu and Kiska at the extreme western end of the Aleutian islands.

Jap Plan Menaced

At this stage the Nipponese found themselves in possession of the tin, rubber, and oil necessary to modern life and modern war. But, the island continent of Australia is directly in the backyard of the Dutch East Indies. It is the only jumping off place from which the United Nations can launch their offensive in order to recapture, in the reverse order, all the territories that the Japanese forces had already seized. The strategists of these yellow men knew this perfectly, and knew that their gains were not secure until they had captured Australia.

With the continued Japanese successes of the first few months of the war in the East, there was one first basic all-necessary strategic accomplishment for the United Nations—to halt the Nipponese in their tracks and stop any further forward movement. Since the Japanese threat was in two directions—towards Australia and towards Alaska, and since at that time all of the fighting strength of the United Nations was insufficient, the problem was one of most difficult strategy. Our armed forces had to be so distributed that any forward movement could be stopped, but still at the same time it was necessary to so play the game that none of our fighting units were seriously hurt.

Establish Supply Lines

The United Nations immediately established a line of supply from Hawaii to Australia, around the lower end of the islands that are south of the Solomons which had already been seized by the Nipponese. Our enemies knew if our supply line continued to work, we would place so much strength in the land "down under" that they could never hope to seize and conquer Australia.

Because of these facts, Japanese strategy was to work south on the east side of Australia, island by island, until they had reached a position where they could cut our line of supply with their navy and land-based planes. At the same time the movement furthered their purpose toward invasion of Australia. If the Nipponese were successful they would have bases on both the north and east sides.

Therefore, our next strategy, as soon as we had amassed sufficient strength, was to drive a strong wedge through the Solomon islands which would block the forward advances of the Japanese, and would give up island bases from which to start our offensive movement of recapture.

Japanese Stopped

This we have done, not only in the Solomons but in the Aleutians.

The United Nations have thereby accomplished their first great strategic necessity—to stop the Japanese forward movement.

But, the Dutch East Indies and their production are the key to the life of the Japanese empire. So, now, if the Nipponese can possibly throw our forces back out of the Solomons they will do it. And much more bitter fighting may be expected in this area. Regardless of how it goes, even if we lose our present toe-hold, in the end we will hold these island bases.

Our next decisive strategic move is the recapture of the Dutch East Indies—and we'll probably do it just as our enemies did, island by island. So it becomes very apparent that the fighting for the Solomon islands at this time is by far the most important in the southwest Pacific area.

Lewis Sees Perils After War Ends

"Economic Convulsions" Are Certain, Leader Of Miners, Warns Nation

By JACK VINCENT
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

CINCINNATI, Oct. 8.—Warning that there would be "economic convulsions" after World War II is over, John L. Lewis today told the convention of District 50 of his United Mine Workers that a unified labor organization in America was inevitable.

At the same time, Lewis revealed that he had set up District 50 in the UMW after he had resigned from the CIO in a hope of building up a "greater and more perfect" labor union than the CIO.

Lewis, speaking to District 50 while the main convention of the UMW was in recess declared:

"The end of this great war will result in economic convulsions and there will be widespread repercussions. There will be a crop of political questions growing out of social and economic problems when the war factories close."

"So build and organize," Lewis told District 50, which has organized workers in 94 different industries ranging from perfume manufacture to dairy farming.

Lewis told the District 50 delegates, however, that they must subordinate their interests and organizing campaigns to the war effort.

'Twas apple butter making day Wednesday, with the ladies of the Mahoning Methodist church. There were about two dozen ladies busy at work on the church lawn, with their different phases of making this palatable layer on our daily bread. There were the apple peelers, trimmers, slicers, and the stirrers of the hot popping butter in the copper kettle above wood fires. It was remarked that they had two more kettles going than in other years, seven being used. With a big war going on, and lots of butter being needed for our men in service, apple butter on our tables will help relieve the situation.

Nation Responding To Appeal For Scrap

(International News Service)

Spurred on by the warm words of WPB Chief Donald Nelson, America's amateur scrap metal collectors pitched in again today to "get out the scrap and get it into the scrap."

More than 300,000 tons have been collected in the past week.

Nelson in Washington asserted: "Reports from all sections of the country indicate that patriotic Americans are responding admirably to the appeal by the newspapers to give scrap metal immediately in order that our steel mills may operate at capacity."

New York City, leading the nation by virtue of its enormous population, had transformed the scrap drive into a borough contest with each of the five sub-divisions of the city striving to top the record of the other.

It was Brooklyn's turn today and as early as yesterday afternoon householders were piling the curbs high with scrap articles. More than a thousand city trucks and 250,000 city and volunteer workers were assigned to the collection.

The boroughs of Queens and Richmond already have exceeded their quotas by hundreds of thousands of pounds and Brooklyn expected to surpass even those collection efforts.

Up New England way, Taunton, Mass., citizens turned in 108 pounds per capita and Boston rolled its total up to 593,080 pounds with the drive still under way.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad reported a 71,364-ton collection of scrap along its 6,000 miles of track for the past nine months.

Need For Scrap Metal Is Critical In Nation

With all this hip, hip, hooray about scrap, and with the local scrap drive starting October 10, perhaps you wonder now and then why all the scrap is needed, what is to be done about it, and why it is so important that you do your share in getting the scrap in.

This article may give you some idea. First of all, most of the steel used today in the manufacture of war implements is open hearth steel and in the manufacture of open hearth steel, baout 50 per cent steel scrap is added to the pig iron used. In other words every two tons of steel turned out represents a ton of scrap gathered in somewhere.

Badly Needed

With the steel mills working the clock around the demand for scrap becomes more pressing and the mills themselves just don't have the scrap. That's where you come in.

Around your house you have some waste buckets, old flat irons, a lawn mower, old golf clubs, or an ash can. That old flat iron contains enough steel to make 2 steel helmets or 30 hand grenades. Nine old flat irons would make a six inch shell.

A set of discarded tire chains will make twenty 37 millimeter anti-aircraft shells. An old radiator will make seventeen .30 calibre rifles. An old wash pail will make 3 bayonets.

The story is the same on the farm where there is usually more scrap around than is found in a city home. An old disc, weighing about 420 pounds will make 210 semi-automatic light carbines, while an old plow weighing 850 pounds will make one hundred 75mm armor piercing projectiles.

So it goes Every pound of scrap you dig up is another pound of sudden death for the Japs and the Nazis. Every pound of steel you turn in strengthens an American soldier's hands that much.

What About Jaloppies?

But you say why not grab off those junked automobiles in the auto graveyards? That's exactly what is being done. Today the scrap dealers of the country are handling 400,000 junked cars per month and that means about twenty per cent of all the scrap being used. These figures are released by Office of War Information.

Sure you turned in some scrap last May. But wasn't that just the things you had thrown away? Now it is time to turn in metallic and rubber things that might be useable later on but are not in actual use now.

Downtown merchants, and that means merchants between County Line street and the west side bridge and from Falls street to the river, will contribute their scrap on Monday morning October 12th. They do not open their stores on Monday mornnig and they are preparing to clean out their cellars. The scrap will be piled on the curb and trucks will collect it.

The collection starts Saturday, October 10th and between the 12th and 17th the industrial and special projects scrap will be collected. The collection in New Castle takes place Saturday, October 17th, and it will be a one-day collection.

Contributed

Citizens are asked to contribute their scrap, not to the scrap dealers but to the U. S. O. The scrap will be weighed as it is deposited in the yard of the Pennsylvania Power Company. Bids will be taken on it and the money derived will go into a special U. S. O. fund to be used in aiding service men and women here.

This scrap campaign isn't just a passing fancy, not a whim of some governmental leader. It is an appeal from the heart, an appeal to hand guns over to those lads in Australia, on the Solomons, in Ireland and Panama. What about that lad of yours, or that neighbor boy whose address in "Somewhere Overseas"? Are you going to ask him to do your fighting with his bare hands?

ENTERS PROTEST

New Castle, Pa., Oct 6, 1942.

Editor,
New Castle News,
New Castle, Pa.
Dear Sir:

I am writing this letter in protest against the presentation of a bronze plaque given very recently to an organization called, I believe, "The Marine League". The name of the organization is unimportant, however the BRONZE plaque is. At a time when your paper is screaming for SCRAP for the war effort, and reporting a senator's desire to have a fine BRONZE statuary in Washington, D. C., melted for scrap, your paper also publishes the presentation of this plaque.

I ask you and all patriotic citizens if that is consistent? No doubt the organization was worthy of a plaque but could not it have been made of some material not necessary to the war effort? I believe there is altogether too much unnecessary use of these vital materials and therefore I suggest that a facsimile of this plaque be made in plaster or wood so that the original may be returned to help the boys that are giving everything for us.

Yours very truly,
ROBERT W. BRENNER,
912 Ryan Avenue.

P. S.—This is an open letter and I hope you will be able to publish it.

Midget Class Opens Season At Y. M. C. A.

Average Of 40 Boys Attend Each Session; Group Largest

With an average attendance of 40, the popular Y.M.C.A. Midget class, largest of the association groups, has launched a new year and is meeting Mondays at 4:30 for swimming, and Saturdays at 10:30 gym and swimming.

Special attention is paid to the boys of this class in the swimming pool and by the time the boy is ready to advance to the cadet group he is usually able to swim at least one length of the "Y" pool. Special swimming instruction is given to boys of this class who can't swim. This class is on Friday at 4:30. With the beginning of gym classes this group will increase in size and will be the largest group in the boys' department. All of the midgets are asked to note the times of their classes and make a special effort to be present at their next class. This Saturday there will be a special event on the gym for the midget class.

APPLE COMBINATION WILL HAVE SUCCESSFUL SEASON

In football terms, Coach King Apple has an aggregation of versatile candidates for his 1942 squad. Smokehouse, Grimes Golden, McIntosh, Jonathan, Delicious, Stayman, York Imperial, Golden Delicious, Rome, Baldwin, and Northern Spy make up a combination capable of satisfactory performance under all conditions.

This apple team, if given adequate support, should go places since one of its opponents, the orange, is expected to be short of reserves, and another, the banana, probably will not be very strong for the duration.

On the line York Imperial, Golden Delicious, Rome, Baldwin, Stayman, Delicious, and Northern Spy should be able to outlast any opposition, while Smokehouse, Jonathan, Grimes, Golden, and McIntosh are expected to do a bang-up job of carrying vitamins, minerals, and other substances for health and strength during October.

Why not get back of this team? Fruit growers in Pennsylvania are harvesting a bumper crop of apples of which Smokehouse, Grimes Golden, Jonathan, and McIntosh are most suitable for immediate use.

Smokehouse, one of the old favorites, is suitable for sauce, baking, and eating out of hand.

Grimes Golden, a general-purpose apple early in the fall, can be cooked, baked, used for salads, and is delicious for eating while listening to those popular radio programs.

Jonathan lends itself to cooking, salads, and baking if of sufficient size. It also satisfies the craving for a fresh apple.

McIntosh is a crisp, juicy apple which has no equal when quality is considered. It is excellent apple for dessert, sauce, and even baking if baked at a low temperature.

Regardless of the variety purchased, demand good quality. Being familiar with varieties and their uses will increase the satisfaction from use of apples.

HINTS FOR OCTOBER

As the growing season tapers off, the flower gardener and keeper of the home grounds will find plenty of tasks during October.

Now is the time to preserve the dry leaves that have been falling from the shade trees. These should be piled in a compost heap so that they may decay and form leaf mold to be mixed with sand and soil for use in the perennial garden or for repotting house plants.

All potted plants which have been growing outdoors can be brought inside before heavy frosts to be grown in the conservatory or window garden. They should be placed in a room where there is no heat so that the transfer from outdoors to indoors will not be too abrupt. Do not take into the house more plants than desired. Each plant should have plenty of room, fresh air, and light, and the pot should be turned every few days so that the sides of the plants may develop evenly.

Preparation of beds for spring-flowering bulbs, such as hyacinths, crocuses, tulips, daffodils, narcissi, and other hardy bulbs, should now be made. Each bulb when planted should be set in a layer of sand in a well-drained bed. The depth of plant varies according to the size of the bulb and a general rule which may be followed is to plant large bulbs 3 to 4 inches deep and small bulbs 1 to 2 inches deep. If the bulbs are planted too deeply, bloom will be retared and in some instances blooms will not develop.

Encourage late-blooming chrysanthemums to grow—applying plenty of water and giving applications of liquid manure.

All garden debris which may form a shelter for garden pests should be gathered and burned.

Since frost has killed many of the annual flowers, be sure to remove the dead debris and burn. Cleared beds can be spaded, since winter conditions will improve the texture of the flower garden soil.

AVOID LOSSES FROM CROWDED CONDITIONS

Lawrence county poultrymen who select only sound pullets for future layers and who grade according to development and maturity can eliminate the hazard of crowding.

This practice will put more money in the farmer's pocket and will provide more eggs and poultry meat to satisfy war needs.

Crowding results in less feeder space per bird, which, of course, can be easily remedied. It helps to increase the wet litter problem which in turn affects the labor problem. It increases the disease hazard because there are more fowls in a given amount of floor space.

Crowding increases roosting problems and demands more careful management of ventilation. More floor eggs may be laid under crowded conditions, with greater opportunity for vent picking to become serious.

Some poultrymen feel that when pens are overcrowded, the chickens' reaction to their environment usually will result in decreased numbers, until the requirements of floor space are met. Too often the reduction in numbers does not stop at that point but, once started, goes on to disastrous proportions.

Good management seeks to prevent trouble by avoiding it. Good management will not overcrowd the laying quarters.

HOME-GROWN CLOVER SEED IS DESIRABLE

A home-grown supply of clover seed is always desirable, but particularly so this year when curtailed supplies, mounting costs, and transportation difficulties are increasing the farmers' troubles.

Home-produced seed is quite sure to be well adapted. In fact, farmers in some sections pay a premium for locally grown seed.

Every worthwhile crop should be harvested. Use of the combine has simplified clover seed harvest. Best results follow cutting and swathing, with a swather on the mower or a side delivery rake; threshing later with a pickup attachment on the combine when the cut material is thoroughly dry. The crop must be fully ripe and free from all green material, and the weather must be dry.

Some combine operators will harvest clover for a share, usually half the crop. This provides work late in the fall, making it feasible to work with lighter crops and giving the farmer a seed supply without outlay of cash or labor.

Combined seed should be thoroughly dry before storing in bulk or even in bags. Heating quickly ruins germination. Seed infested with weeds should be thoroughly cleaned before selling or sowing. Some weeds, such as the white cockles, are so hard to remove and the weeds so persistent that clover fields infested with them should not be harvested.

SPECIAL ATTENTION IS GIVEN FIRE PROTECTION

This is National Fire Prevention Week, from Octber 4 to 10. While this special week is devoted to extra attention to the subject of fires, the possibility of fires is always before us.

This year fires have a deeper significance than usual because each one will be an aid to the enemy. Every bit of food lost is a drawback to our armed forces or allies; buildings burned cannot be adequately replaced without hindering the war effort, reducing manpower, and giving a setback to farm operations. Lost time can never be made up and may result in military casualties.

This week was picked because it includes the date of the start of the famous Chicago fire, October 9, 1871, which is usually thought of as a city fire. It is well to remember that this fire started in a barn. One of the versions is the cow and upset lantern, but a neighbor who went to Mrs. O'Leary's help always insisted that the fire was caused by hot hay, put away too green. Fires have started from this cause as late as November.

Let us hope that we may never need the bucket of sand and the long-handled shovel for use with incendiary bombs, but they may save an automobile or a tractor if at hand when an oil or gasoline fire starts.

Many farmers have one of the most efficient fire-fighting engines known in their spraying equipment. It is right on the job, too, if kept in condition. The Fourth Annual Fire School at the Pennsylvania State college recently demonstrated how effective the water fog is, with far less water than the old solid stream.

Everyone should make a fire inspection before winter sets in. Poor chimneys should be repaired, rubbish removed, and shingle roofs which are a fire hazard should be repaired and a spark arrester put on the flue.

Plan To Raise Fund Of $18,000

Community Chest War Fund Drive Set For October 30-November 14

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 8.—The Community Chest War Fund Drive will take place in Ellwood City from October 30 to November 14. A goal of $18,000 is neded to meet the budget requirements of the 15 agencies that will take part in the Chest war fund.

The war and intense war production in Ellwood City has resulted in the local Community Chest taking on seven more agencies this year over last year. In dollars and cents it means an increase in the war chest needs of some $5,000. Agencies to participate in the chest that are directly connected with the war are: USO, Prisoners Aid, Navy Relief Army Relief, Russian Relief, British Relief, China Relief and Greek Relief. Local agencies include a large portion to the Ellwood City hospital, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Salvation Army, Welfare Fund, Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A.

Ellwood City citizens will be well informed this year that the drive will be the only one of the year and instead of giving a dollar or more to 15 different charities, it will be a lump sum to take care of war and local charities.

The war chest board will ask the air raid wardens throughout the city to handle the house to house canvass and should they accept, it will be heralded by civilian defense corps throughout the nation as the idea has not been used any where else as far as can be checked.

L. W. Monroe will serve as director of the house to house drive and a special meeting of the chest board and the air raid sector captains in the city has been called for this Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

The war chest drive will be placed on a "men to man" basis whereby everyone will be asked to give their share so that the amount given can be broken up to take care of 15 of the most needy organizations that have ever been sponsored by the local war chest.

Members of the local war chest board are: Dr. H. E. Helling, Rev W. E. Minteer, R. J. Schill, W. F. Kegel, Robert Shearer, Andy Biordi John Popescu, Howard Fleeger Mike Kaiser, Wayne Baird, Allen Keller, Paul Luther, Ralph Evans, Mrs. Earl Yahn, Mrs. Eugene Labowitz, Mrs. Leo Franus, Mrs. A. M Gighiotti and Mrs. Steve Mondell.

Ellwood Plays Monaca Saturday

Will Go To Monaca, For First Away-From-Home Game Of Season

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 8.—Beginning the second half of the ten-game schedule, the Ellwood high school football Wolverines will journey to Monaca on Saturday afternoon for the first away from home game. It will be one of the two afternoon games to be played by the Ellwood outfit who go to Midland the following Saturday afternoon.

They will then be at home to Aliquippa and New Brighton teams and will end the season on Friday, November 6, at Beaver Falls.

The injury bugaboo has caught up with the Croft-Gills machine, and Coach Croft said today that Smiley, transferred last week from half to quarterback, would be definitely out of the game as he had fractured two ribs in Monday's scrimmage practice.

"Ziggy" Glogowski has a nose injury received in the Butler game and while Croft has hopes of using him by Saturday, it is uncertain. Luxenberg will likely start in Smiley's place. Fortunately the other two backfield men, Cartwright and Conti, will be in their regular spots. The back reserves are pretty uncertain. Jack McClintick is still having trouble with a knee injury received in the Farrell game; Dale Tillia is out of school on account of illness, and Heinz still can't run because of a toe injury received before the start of the season.

The line remains intact. Dudick, tackle, has definitely quit school, and the spot will be filled by Wallace, who began the season in that position when Dudick was injured.

SOMEONE'S LIFE IS IN YOUR HANDS!

ROUND up your scrap metal—it's needed to make steel. Steel for armor plate to protect him from bombs and bullets. Steel for weapons to help him do the job that must be done before he can come home again.

You don't want production figures. It's enough to know that 50% of all new steel is made of scrap—that our steel mills now have only enough scrap in sight to last another 30 days at the most!

What happens after that depends on all of us. If production falls and you've not done your part, will you rest easy?

Next week we're starting a collection drive—to build the biggest stockpile of scrap metal you've ever seen. Then when the mills need it, we'll have it—because you came through . . . for HIS sake!

Increased Number Of Mental Cases

Pennsylvania Has Lower Prison Population, But More Mental Patients

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 8.—The war has brought a 'considerable" increase in the number of mental patients in Pennsylvania but the prison population has declined, secretary of welfare E. Arthur Sweeny reported today to Gov. Arthur H. James.

The total population of all mental hospitals on May 31 was 35,288, a 13.6 per cent increase over the preceding biennium, Sweeny told the chief executive in his biennial report. The number of inmates in state penal institutions declined during the same period by four per cent while those in county prisons fell 17.4 per cent. The combined population of the Teso prison groups totaled 14,646 said the secretary of welfare.

Sweeny disclosed further that the department's building program rapidly was nearing completion, with new buildings added to the Philadelphia state hospital and the Selinsgrove state colony for epileptics. Projected new structures at Penn Hurst and Polk have been postponed indefinitely, however, due to the war.

Sweeny added that the war was making it difficult to obtain sufficient employes with which to operate state institutions. The marked turnover in personnel was "discouraging," he reported.

CIERNIK AND MEDO IN MILITARY SERVICE

Two more members of the local detachment of the Pennsylvania motor police are in military service and one of them will depart tomorrow morning for a destination as yet unknown in the Coast Guard. He is Stephen W. Ciernik. The other motor policeman is Paul F Medo. He joined the air corps and is on call.

Boys And Girls Given Warning

It was announced today that police would not permit young boys and girls of the city to tamper around automobiles as a pre-Hallowe'en prank.

It was reported to police that this practice has already been started some of them sounding horns while autoists were absent from their cars. The automobile situation is too precarious nowadays, it was pointed out, to have some people probably damage the cars in the pre-Hallowe'en prank.

It was indicated they will not be let off easy if ordered into court. It might be well for parents to warn their boys not to interfere with other people's property, and to watch their conduct on the streets.

AMPLE SUGAR SUPPLY

DENVER—America now has a supply of domestic sugar which is the largest stock ever available for current use, according to Frank A. Kemp of Denver, president of the Great Western Sugar company. This was brought out at a recent discussion by sugar industry leaders in Denver regarding the present and future of the industry and its relation to war and victory.

However, spokesmen at the meeting declared, the government's rationing program is necessary because of problems which are "bound to arise" in 1943.

A REMINDER

"Know Your Endorsers"

The United States Secret Service has suggested the following precautionary measures for accepting and cashing checks:

1. Do not cash checks for strangers.

2. Insist on proper identification. Declared not to be sure identification are Social Security cards, drivers' license certificates, automobile certificates of title, railroad passes, business cards or letterheads, personal letters, receipts for public utility service, bank books, selective service draft cards.

3. Known relatives at times present checks presumably bearing genuine endorsements. In such cases it is suggested that the person sign his or her name in the presence of the bank teller, since relatives sometimes purloin checks for their own use.

4. Avoid telephone identification "under all conditions."

5. Require that every employee be identified as having handled each check cashed.

6. Merchants are told to be on guard against strangers purchasing merchandise and presenting checks with insufficient identification.

First Bowling Game In Club's League Gets Under Way After Dinner-Meeting

Charles DeCarbo, vice president, was in charge of the dinner-meeting of the Wolves club Tuesday evening held at The Castleton, at which time ladies' night was announced tentatively as November 3. Teachers To Meet At Mercer School

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Pa., Oct. 8.—The annual Mercer county Teachers' Institute will be held at the high school building in Mercer, Saturday, October 10, and Monday, October 12.

The transportation problem has been the deciding factor in holding the institute in Mercer on both days this year. The usual custom has been to hold the county meeting one day and to attend the midwestern convention at New Castle on the other one. This year, teachers may attend both days in Mercer, thus eliminating necessity for making the trip to New Castle, although they may attend the latter if permission is given them by their directors.

The first session will start at 9 a. m. Saturday, and will be featured by three well-known educators.

Monday an outstanding program has been arranged which will be highlighted by an address by an international news writer and commentator.

WAR'S END BEFORE JANUARY 1, 1944?

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 8.—The war will end before January 1, 1944, the Public Utility Commission predicted Wednesday.

The commission explained that the company was unable to get materials until the end of the war.

Parents and friends of these boys are being especially invited to attend the service as guests of the church Sunday evening.

Salaries Under $5,000 Unregulated By Recent Order

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8—While Economic Administrator James F. Byrnes today threw the machinery of economic stabilization into high gear it developed that all salaries under $5,000 were left unregulated by President Roosevelt's drastic all-inflation orders.

Provisionally approving wage increases granted between Sept. 15 and Oct. 3 when the President issued issued his wage stabilization orders, Chairman William H. Davis of the War Labor Board disclosed that the WLB has no jurisdiction over salaries under $5,000.

Davis hinted that some action might be taken to plug the salary "loophole" in the President's orders. He said that Byrnes has ample power to take control of lower salaries if he so desires.

Smoke Injures 36 In Pittsburgh Fire

Northside Market 5-Alarm Blaze Dense With Smoke Of Burning Lard

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 8—Twenty-five firemen were recovering from the effects of smoke today and 11 others suffered injuries, five seriously, in the wake of a five-alarm blaze late yesterday in a northside market in Pittsburgh.

Billows of dense smoke, apparently abetted by vats of burning lard, hung like a pall over the 45-year-old brick building, forcing more than a dozen families to flee their homes.

In addition to the 25 firemen felled by smoke, six other fire fighters were cut by broken glass and five more were injured and sent to the hospital when their pumper truck en route to the blaze collided with a beer truck. The helper on the beer truck also was hospitalized.

The blaze, according to authorities, began in the basement of the building but spread quickly throughout the market. So thick were the smoke fumes that firemen with gas masks were forced to retreat from the structure's interior.

Problem: Whether to make the lower blister on bombers larger or enlist contortionists who won't get cramps so they can't shoot.

Rubber 'Czar' Gives Warning

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Anyone contemplating violation of the government's rubber and gas rationing programs today are on warning from Rubber Director William M. Jeffers to "look out".

In his first public speech since his appointment, Jeffers expressed confidence that the present regulations would meet with the voluntary support of the great majority of the public, but he added:

"For that small segment of our population who will try to beat the game I only have this to say—look out."

Bessemer-Union Set For Class B Tussle On Friday Afternoon

Bessemer High Field Battle Scene For Loop Inaugural At 3:30 O'Clock

SHENANGO IS HOST TO FREEDOM FRIDAY

Lawrence county's Class B football derby, which produces heart-agitating thrills annually, headlines the week-end sports card here.

Bessemer field, scene of the tussel on Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, pairs Bessemer high's smooth charges and Union Township's high's fighting forces.

The setting is slightly different than in past seasons. Both institutions are guided by new mentors, Joe Weresuk directing at Bessemer and Wilbur Patterson bossing the Scotland Laners.

On paper, the "Cementers" rate a big edge. Pitted against Greenville, a Class A enemy, the localities flattened the Mercer countians, 7-0. On the following week-end, Bessemer tied Erie East, a Class AA foe, 6-6. Lowellville crumbled under the red and black clad offense, 45-0, last week.

Grubisa-Miller Aces

Jack "Rabbit" Grubisa and Wilbur Miller, a 138-pound fullback who bucks with the fierocity of an angered bull, are backfield spearheads. The duo's flashy play is complemented by B. Navarra and D. Navarra. Averaging only 145, the backfield is packed with speed.

The line, averaging 160, gives up ground grudgingly, as opponents encountered thus far will verify. John Kresevich, star center, will be absent from his post due to illness.

While the Unionites have failed to win thus far, the boys from Scotland Lane will be in there until the final whistle. The Bessemer and Shenango games are "the" battles on the Union program.

Union, faced with a back breaking schedule, has suffered defeats administered by Ellwood City, Evans City and Greenville. Experience gained in the past engagements figure to aid the blue and white tremendously tomorrow.

The triumphant aggregation can win the crown by defeating Shenango later.

Shenango Host

Shenango will entertain a highly touted Freedom eleven on Shenango field Friday afternoon in another top attraction.

Coach Eddie Nahas, the East New Castle strategist, has been juggling his crippled squad around and seems to have found a winning combination. Setback by Evans City in the opener, Shenango walloped Zelienople and deadlocked a big, powerful Hopewell machine, 6-6.

The game will start at 2:15 o'clock.

The local grid show continues Friday night at 8 o'clock with New Castle entertaining Farrell high at Taggart stadium.

Saturday afternoon, Ellwood City tackles Monaca in the valley den and Westminster college has Hiram as its Homecoming Day antagonist.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 8. — The Minnesota Gophers tapered off with a light workout today preparatory to leaving tonight for Champaign to meet Illinois. Bill Garnaas and Herman Frickely will be replaced by two second stringers, Dick Kelley and Bob Sandberg, in the starting lineup

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 8.—All hope was abandoned today that the injured Bob Wilson, regular left guard, will be in the Illinois lineup Saturday against Minnesota. Coach Ray Eliot sent the Illini through Minnesota plays with Julius Rykovitch, freshman, in the role of Bill Daley, Gopher left half.

IOWA CITY, Ia., Oct. 8.—Coach Eddie Anderson indicated today he would start the same team he used against Great Lakes when the Iowa Hawkeyes entertain Camp Grant Saturday. The starting backfield consists of Tom Farmer, quarterback; Sam Vacanti, left half; Dick Hoerner, fullback, and Bill Strauss, right half.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Frost is on the pumpkins, leaves are falling and hunters' thoughts turn to the coming small game season. According to Frank Coen, game protector for Lawrence county, there are more rabbits and ringnecks in this vicinity this year than for several years past.

The game wardens this season, as always, will be on the alert for the game hogs, and sorry to relate, there are some. Those who take several poor "shots" with them, then double and triple on the limit may find themselves in the jug.

Some of the best coon dogs from West Virginia, Ohio and Pennsylvania will participate in the coon chase to be held by the Lawrence County Coon Hunters association at 11 a. m. Saturday, October 17, at the Lawrence County Sportsmen's association site near Harbor Bridge. The purse division will be worthwhile.

Norman Rubio, who fought Fritzie Zivic, is in the Marines . . . Lem Franklin, Cleveland heavyweight who was blown up like a bubble only to be burst, wants a comeback chance somewhere against someone . . . Arnold Statz, for 22 years manager of the Los Angeles Angels, has resigned.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 8.—The jungle cats of the University of Pittsburgh, fresh from a stimulating triumph over Southern Methodist university, sharpened an aerial attack today in preparation for their tilt this week-end against the Great Lakes naval training station eleven in Cleveland. Pitt selected Walter West, 190-pound senior quarterback, to captain the team against the sailors.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 8.—The rollicking Dukes of Duquesne university, holding decisive wins over Waynesburg and Holy Cross, face a weight problem Saturday night when they face Kansas State at Pittsburgh. The Dukes will be outweighed about 20 pounds to the man but figure to take the corn belt team which has lost both of its games this year by top-heavy scores.

PRINCETON, Oct. 8.—A stiff session on blocking and kicking keyed up the Princeton football squad today for their meeting with the Navy Saturday in Yankee stadium. Head Coach Tad Wieman gave his backfield men 30 minutes of drill covering punts and kick-offs to cure a weakness which appeared last week in the game with Williams.

ITHACA, Oct. 8.—Passing of Georgia Armbruster was praised today following a dummy scrimmage by the Cornell team in preparation for the Army Saturday at West Point. Offensive passing plays were said to have clicked satisfactorily with Armbruster doing the hurling.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8.—Penn's varsity squad profited today from a pre-view by the Quaker freshman team of the forward passing attack expected to be launched by Yale at New Haven on Saturday. Drill was also held on offensive plays against a variety of defensive formations.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Oct. 8.—John Andretich, hard driving right halfback, was named today to captain Purdue when the Boilermakers meet Northwestern at Evanston Saturday. Improvement of the aerial defense and ball handling to eliminate fumbling occupied the attention of the Boilermakers.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 8.—With the arrival of their scout, Tippy Dye, who was grounded in the west, Ohio State Buckeyes today polished up their defense against Southern California plays. Dante Lavelli, whose injuries have improved, is expected to replace Don Steinberg at end in the starting lineup.

Big Leagues May Play 140 Games In '43

Season May Be Slashed By Two Weeks; Tentative Opening Date April 13

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—Shortening of the 1943 major league baseball season, perhaps by two weeks, already is under serious consideration by the club owners, President Will Harridge of the American League disclosed today.

He said that in conversations while he was attending the world series he found considerable sentiment for a revamping of the schedule which would provide for three out-of-town trips instead of the present four of each team and for a later opening and an earlier closing. He indicated there would be no immediate decision in the matter.

Mail Campaign

"It will have to wait until the December meetings," he said. "But in the meantime discussions between the individual clubs and the two majors as a whole will be carried on by mail."

Especially during the latter part of the season just ended, several clubs found the transportation problem difficult. And even before the last government order banning special Pullmans, it was not always easy getting sleepers.

The owners foresee a situation more acute next year, with the possibility that the players on occasion may be forced to make even some of the long jumps in day coaches.

Opening and closing dates for the 1943 season already have been tentatively set for April 13 and September 26, but these dates will not be officially adopted, if at all, until the advocates of a shorter season have had their say. These owners suggest clipping a week off each end of the schedule, opening April 20 and winding up September 19.

The shortening of the season would be made possible by reducing the number of games from the present 154 to 140, and this is what some of the owners propose.

The site of the major league meetings has not been determined. They were held in Chicago last year and, according to custom, they normally would be held in New York this year, it was said, however, that because of Chicago's central location, an agreement might be made to hold them here this year also.

STOLZ-DENNER BATTLE FRIDAY

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Oct. 8.—Allie Stolz of Newark, N. J., leading contender for the lightweight title, meets Abe Denner, Boston, in a ten-round feature bout tomorrow night in Mechanics building, it was announced today.

Hoosier Star

BILLY HILLENBRAND, Indiana's sure-fire All-American backfield star, is hailed for his brilliant work against Ohio State, although his team lost a close one, 32-21.

Hillenbrand, 195 pounds of open-field terror, took Ohio's opening kickoff back 45 yards to begin an afternoon which saw him pass for two Indiana touchdowns, ramble for another on a 50-yard jaunt through the whole Ohio team and play a bang-up game on defense.

The "Hoosier Hot-Shot" hails from Evansville, Ind., where he cracked the roster of his high school team when only 14 years old. He played end along with his brother, Joe, a tackle. When a halfback was injured Hillenbrand was shifted. He gained all-state honors the next two years.

Last year as a soph, Hillenbrand scored seven of Indiana's 15 touchdowns and passed for seven of the other eight. He played all but 12 minutes of the season.

In the Ohio State game, the Bucks so feared him in the open field that they kicked out of bounds on every play and on each kickoff after he rambled on the opening boot.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Notes off the cuff:—

An even dozen teams have seen their Class AA W. P. I. A. L. dreams shattered. New Castle High, victorious over Butler and Beaver Falls in its lone two league frays, is one of the 16 pennant-bound editions.

Ernie Adamo has turned in his John Carroll university football suit, according to his brother, Jimmy. The ex-New Castle High star got his army call a few days ago and promptly joined the U. S. Navy, Jimmy reports.

Bessemer High's star center, John Kresevich, a proficient basketballer, too, will be missing from tomorrow's Class B game with Union Township. The talented athlete is confined to bed with the flu.

Pleased to learn and to report that Alex Pascarella, a local "Babe" Ruth back in the 20's, is now Corporal Pascarella. He's with the United States Marines, and is stationed in Philadelphia.

Shorts that may and may not interest you: There wasn't a 20-game winner in the International league during the past season. Barrett, of Syracuse, won 19 . . . Purdue doesn't have a captain. But, the Boilermakers' grid squad includes 17 players who were captains on high school teams!

A study in contrast: Joe Gordon, Yankee star, hit 18 homers and finished with a .321 batting mark, one of the top hitters in the A. L. He was a world series flop. Whitey Kurowski clouted only nine homers and had a paltry .253 batting mark for the year. Yet he was the hitting star!

Joe DiMaggio, who staggered in the first weeks of the A. L. drive, pushed his swat mark to .305 as the campaign ended . . . Bob Elliott was Pittsburgh's hitting master with a .297 mark . . . Wonder if it's still necessary to break up the Yanks.

There's a rumor in the air that "Cholly" Grimm will get the Cubs' managerial seat . . . Washington Park's racing meet boosted the war relief fund by $150,000 . . . The November 14 Yale-Princeton game will be played on Columbia's Baker field, N. Y.

MacPhail Vacancy Causes Scramble

No Less Than 27 Men Want Dodger Post; Do You Blame Them?

LEO DUROCHER TO JOIN NAVY

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—The Brooklyn Dodgers have lost General Manager Larry MacPhail to the army and are about to lose Team Manager Leo Durocher to the navy with the result that at the last count approximately 27 men and seven boys had filed applications for the vacancies. For the time being the directors of the club are not telling anybody anything as to what their plans are for next year, if any. If they are trying to find a man the equal of MacPhail as a showman and promoter they may as well give up now. As for Durocher's successor, he will be selected, signed and inducted in keeping with the demands of the new general manager.

The latter gentleman may be Branch Rickey, who built up the St. Louis Cardinals' farm system and, aided and abetted by Billy Southworth, built the current world champions.

However, only a few hours ago the last time I talked to him Rickey said that he was in New York for a vacation and "I'm not prepared to talk about the Dodgers or whether I will go back to the Cardinals."

Rickey Has Inside

Rickey, according to authorities who should know, has the inside track at Brooklyn with negotiations depending to a large extent upon what he will demand in the way of salary.

Earl Mann, who rose from park peanut vendor to capable and successful president of the Atlanta, Southern Association club, is another mentioned for the job.

Prospective managers are showing up by the drove, and include everybody from Willie Apple from the Three-Toe league to currently unemployed major league managers.

Who has the inside track on that must be determined by who is named the new general manager.

Bucky Harris, who recently resigned his post as pilot of the Washington Senators, has been mentioned but probably would not fit in with Rickey's scheme of things, and Paul Richards, who quit as manager of the Atlanta club a week or so ago, is regarded among the candidates and it should be said that he would fit in nicely under Mann. He has been Mann's manager all along in Atlanta.

Freddit Fitzsimmons, veteran and beloved Dodger pitcher, and Charlie Dressen, equally veteran but slightly less beloved by opposing players whom he has jockeyed for years, also are in line. The latter has been on the coaching staff, and still is until further notice.

"HONOR MAN"

LAFAYETTE, Ind. — Forrest "Frosty" Sprowl, most valuable player on Purdue's basketball squads of the past two seasons, was chosen "honor man" by members of his company while going though recruit training as a seaman at Great Lakes Naval Training Station.

AND HOW!

The Coast Guard does a lot of patrol work and two new recruits, Tommy Henrich and Dom DiMaggio, were among the American League's best outfield patrols the past few seasons.

Horse Racing Gift To Funds Is Over Million

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Horse racing has collected $1,875,400 thus far for war relief, the turf committee of America revealed today.

The committee acknowledged the following contributions not previously announced: Washington Park, $155,668; Narragansett Park fall meeting, $123,701; Langacres, $106,494; Garden State Park, $28,638; Ak-Sar-Ben's donation to local charities in Nebraska, $25,000; Beulah Park, O., $13,538; Saratoga, $1,400 and $420 from the New York Turf Writers Association.

NAVY WILL TRAVEL BY BOAT FOR GAME

(International News Service)

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 8.—Because of restrictions on special trains for football games, the navy's football team is going to travel by boat to at least one of its contests.

The Naval Academy announced that the midshipmen, 1,600 strong, will travel to Baltimore by Chesapeake Bay steamers when the team meets Yale Oct. 17. Even the navy's mascot goat, "Bill the Ninth" will go by boat.

The team will use the trains for its journey to New York this Saturday, however, for the Navy-Princeton game. Its cheering section will be left home, though.

Harridge Praises Series Title Kings

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—Will Harridge, American league president, was back home in Chicago, singing the praises of the new world champion St. Louis Cardinals of the National league.

"Those Cardinals are a fine bunch of boys," Harridge said. "What impressed me most was the way they went about their work. Nothing dismayed them. If there has been anything in the story that other opponents had stood in awe of the Yankees, certainly the Cardinals did not. In this series, the Yankees just weren't good enough for them, and that's all there was to it."

CLAIM TITLE

SCOTT FIELD, Ill.—Scott Field, called the radio university of the U. S. Army Air Force, claims it has the champion officer softball team of the nations' armed forces.

The team's pitcher is Col. Wolcott Hayes, commanding officer of Scott Field, who is currently riding the crest of a 12-game winning streak.

Col. Hayes and teammates have won three officer league titles this summer, and their recent victory was an 18-3 shellacking administered to the Chanute Field, Ill., officers' squad.

Rigorous Drills Toughen "Canes" For Farrell Game

Taggart Stadium Battle On Friday Night To Start At 8 O'Clock

DAVE GENKINGER OUT OF LINEUP

Whipped into condition by a series of rigorous workouts, New Castle high's undefeated eleven anxiously awaits the invasion of Farrell high Friday night at 8 o'clock underneath Taggart stadium's lamps.

Seriousness has been the keynote all week with Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh and his assistants, "Gig" Thomas, "Bill" Klee and Paul Cuba, working overtime to correct mistakes observed in the Sharon game.

Offensive Drill

After spending an entire afternoon on defensive football Tuesday, the "Hurricane" squad devoted yesterday's practice to offensive pigskin tactics.

With the worthy second team offering stiff resistance, the regulars underwent a drill that left them literally dragging their legs when the quitting whistle sounded.

The situation brightened considerably with the return of Bob "General" Lee and Pete Tedesko. Lee huffered a left shoulder injury and Tedesko is recovering from a boil on his back.

Missing from the lineup was Dave Genkinger, rugged center, who was hurt in Tuesday's session. The freckled-faced athlete hurt his left side and may, according to the coaches, watch Friday's battle.

His place will be covered by talented Joe Joseph, varsity guard from West Long avenue. Joseph's regular post will be occupied by Henry Clark, fast, fighting second stringer.

The remainder of the front wall will be intact with Burris and Zubkowsky at end, Rousssos and Razzano at tackles and Sanfilippo at right guard.

Ailing Lee will take over at his left half post. Russ Currie, improving from a left knee injury, will be opposite Lee. Jesse Gunn is listed for fullback duty and Pete Tedesko will clock and call signals.

Farrell Talented

Coach "Hank" Day, one of the smartest tutors in the district, will be represented by a talented eleven which has been showing constant improvement following a slow start. Last week, the Mercer countians did everything according to the book in disposing of Sharpsville, 48-0.

Farrell uses a double wing formation—two halfbacks line up outside of each end. The setup finds the backfield spread out with reverses and double reverses highlighting the offense.

Jim Basilone and Hector Morocco, Farrell spearheads, have hit their stride, according to Farrell reports, and may give the "Canes" even more trouble than Harry Monson, Sharon ace. Alex Bordy is back on the Day eleven. The visitors pack beef, talent and courage.

Farrell lost to Ellwood City, and Youngstown Wilson, 7-0, and defeated Sharpsville.

New Castle boasts of three victories and a 13-13 tie with Sharon.

Tickets are on sale at the Sporting Goods store, 105 North Mercer street. A checkup revealed that section 5 has been completely sold out already.

Eight White Sox Will Join Forces

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—As the Cubs and White Sox players scattered to their homes today following the eighth straight city series triumph by the Pale Hose, nine members of the Chicago teams prepared to don uniforms in the U. S. fighting forces.

The White Sox will contribute eight more players, bringing their total to 16. They are Ted Lyons, Bob Kennedy, George Dickey, Leo Wells, Bill Mueller, Val Helm, Harvey Johnson and Doyle Lade.

CUBS TOO TOUGH

Paul Derringer, of the Reds, couldn't win from the Cubs this season. He won only twice in 1941. But previous to that had beaten Chicago 36 times.

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 8.—Northwestern today speeded up practice for the Purdue game. Second string back, Joe Scriba and Laurie Adelman, will miss Saturday's game because of injuries and sickness.

FAIR or FOUL

By LAWTON CARVER
INS Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—I just crawled out from under a rock up near Yankee stadium. The first thing that greeted my weary eyes was the world championship flag flying at half-mast. I'm the party who picked the Yanks to beat the Cardinals. It would be comforting to be able to say it was a close struggle. Frankly it was no contest.

The Yankees as we know them are gone, but isn't that the way it always is with a champion? You never know he's through until he blows.

Club Not Liberal

And now that I managed somehow to live through that St. Louis dressing room demonstration, I'm glad those kids did it. This meant so much to them. It meant for most of them that in less than a week they made more money than they were paid for the entire season, for they're young and new in the game and with a club that is none too liberal.

It meant more than that, too. This triumph took them to the absolute peak of baseball conquest—not only a world series victory but a world series victory over the Yankees who had won all eight that they have been in since 1926 when Roger Hornsby's Cardinals won in seven games.

You would have to be a witness of the scenes in the Cardinal dressing room following the 4 to 2 win for a triumph in four out of fjve to believe what went on. You can't ever do justice to that demonstration on paper. This was like the little boy who didn't think Santa Claus was coming only to wake up and find him standing in the middle of the room.

This was something that hasn't been witnessed before by baseball eyes which have been peering at scenes of this kind for years.

The oldest inhabitants of the press box scurried for cover out of that Cardinal dressing room, to get away from a scene so utterly berserk that I personally found myself a rock completely outside Yankee stadium and crawled under it to rest quietly out of harm's way until this tornado blew over.

Cards Exuberant

No one was safe from the Cardinals' exuberance, including Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis. He was lifted high on Cardinal shoulders and perched there like a dignified rooster which was unable to decide whether to make the best of being grabbed or to flap his wings and try to fly away from it all.

They tore at each other, and ripped uniforms and howled and screamed. A couple of them cried a little, and occasionally one of them would go to his locker to undress and shower only to suddenly wheel and begin yelling all over again.

Johnny Beazley, who beat the Yanks twice, was picked up and held aloft and Whitey Kurowski, who beat the Yanks in the clincher with his home run, was nearly torn apart during the demonstration that lasted until after the Yankees had quietly showered and dressed and left their quarters deep under the stadium stands.

When big Red Ruffing came into the Cardinal dressing room to congratulate Manager Billy Southworth and Johnny Beazley, he was slapped on the back and shaken by the hand until finally his wrist must have been as sore as his heart. He lost the game on one throw—one change of pace ball, the one that Kurowski parked in the stands in the ninth.

All this was a great thing to witness, especially when you know that these kids probably wound up yesterday the last baseball season they will play for a long time—for the duration.

So the Cards screamed and howled and ranted in what must have been the wildest demonstration in all baseball history over a world series triumph.

Yankees Quiet

Just a few doors away the Yankees sat quietly, seemingly a little stunned as finally they realized that the greatest team we've known had reached the finish.

It was a little shocking to them finally to find themselves in a dressing room after a world series occupied only by themselves. There were no photographers, no well-wishers, none but stray newspaper men and, for a few moments, Commissioner Landis with his hat still knocked out of shape by the Cardinal victory demonstration.

They had little to say as they dressed and left the stadium for the last time perhaps for the duration, with a baseball era of utter preeminence behind them.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

People are getting up in arms . . . they are TAKING time to dig around in their homes, business houses and factories for scrap iron and rubber. The boys and girls of the various schools are out every evening asking their neighbors if they have any scrap . . . People who never thought of scrap before are now the greatest workers in this collection. Experts tell us that about 24 percent of the scrap collected in a city comes from the homes . . . a very important percentage . . . Industrial scrap is usually of a different nature. So let's all get together and look for scrap. Special collections will be picked up the first part of next week . . . such items as the cannon on the diamond, beams on the notion company building, pillars on the South Jefferson street bridge, a safe at the Chevrolet garage and all other large collections of this vital war material . . . Keep your eyes open, it's a duty you owe yourself.

Monday morning . . . that will be October 12th . . . all the merchants who have any kind of scrap . . . and some merchants have hundreds of pounds ready. The People's Furniture Store reported that they were ready with quite a pile . . . others we know will have their scrap ready and out on the sidewalks by eight-thirty Monday for the trucks to pick it up. This should not interfer with store hours too much and even if it does the boys need the scrap . . . Don't let some boy die because you didn't give your scrap iron and rubber.

When you sign up for a membership you support the Guild which is a non-profit organization and one that the City of New Castle may be proud to call its own. So why not take time to call the Fleming Music Store and reserve a membership ticket . . . Five dollars will give you the opportunity to see and hear the world's greatest artists. Call now . . . membership call ends this week.

Again we remind you that this Coming Scrap Drive is Very Important. Let's work!

Stock Market Prices Advance

Gains Are Made In Number Of Issues During Morning

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—The stock market resumed its advance on a broad scale today following yesterday's break in gold mining shares and the mixed trend of the general list.

Gains ran to more than a point in a number of issues, and several representative stocks climbed to new highs for the year or longer.

Oils again were prominent on the upside with Standard of California, Standard of N. J. and Barnsdall all reaching new high ground.

Chrysler and General Motors, each up about a half-point; Patino Mines on a spurt of better than 2 points to 23¾; Paramount, International Nickel and Pullman were others to reach new 1942 tops.

Johns-Manville, Bethlehem Steel, Du Pont and Liggett & Myers "B" were among the representative stocks to advance a point or more.

Eastman Kodak was independently soft, losing a point to 135 at the opening. Half the loss was regained on its next sale.

Can't flyers help design planes? A combat planes isn't good if only a midget can squeeze into the cockpit.

THESE SIGNS BECOMING HISTORY

As nation-wide gasoline rationing becomes only a matter of weeks, signs like those pictured above are passing into the limbo of forgotten things, at least for the duration. Gasoline stations at the edge of rationed areas, top, no longer will do a land-office business, because the whole nation will be rationed area. The gas station operator who tries to give away gasoline, lower left, will be regarded as a fit candidate for a strait jacket, and as for 70-mile-an-hour speed limits, lower right, the new nation-wide limit is just half, 35 miles an hour.

Woolens Steal Spotlight In Fashion Parade Is Report From Experts

By JANE COCHRAN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—The ladies are passing up the silks and rayons for the woolens this fall—they might be a little bulky, but they're warm.

It's woolens that are stealing the fashion spotlight, the New York Dress Institute reported today. The rush to the red flannel counters already has started.

Women have been reading the newspages as well as the fashion section — and the predictions of fuel shortages and of fuel oil rationing have made it fashionable to be warm.

Salesgirls as yet aren't telling us that "this little red number will make you feel 10 degrees warmer" and dresses aren't labelled "as "recommended for a 65 degree room," but all-wool and part-wool dresses are getting the fashion play. They're dressed up with glitter for glamour or strictly tailored as "duration dresses."

And flannels—red ones—aren't going to do their blushing unseen. Red flannel has come brazenly out in the open disguised by nothing more than a narrow band of black lace at the wrist. Really!

The dress is black, short sleeved wool, and it's worn over red woolen underwear with long sleeves. The red underwear sleeves reach down to the wrist and have an edging of black lace at the hand. A red coarse mesh shawl adds warmth to the shoulders or can be worn over the head.

Another Creation

Another New York creation being featured for heat-rationed homes has a knitted brushed wool separate top with long sleeves, and a contrasting plain wool skirt, as wooly and warm as a skating outfit.

Even the bureau of home economics of the department of agriculture has come through with some timely fashion advice on the matter of keeping warm.

The weaves you choose are as important as the material, the bureau points out. If you're spending your time indoors, where the air is comparatively still, porous weaves are the type for you. Knitted materials and napped fabrics are the best of this class.

These fabrics allow warm air to be enmeshed and used as an insulation between the body and surrounding space.

A close, tight weave is preferable for outdoor wear—it forms a windbreak against the breeze.

Cold is usually noticed first in the shoulders and arms, the bureau points out, and recommends either long-sleeved underwear or extra jackets or sweaters to be put on or taken off as the temperature dictates.

The New York Dress Institute, an organization sponsored by the New York garment industry, recommends these things in your winter shopping:

Look at the fabric content label closely and buy the dress of the material that best suits your needs. All-wool is warmer than part-wool, but the mixtures of wool with other fabric are usually softer and lighter.

Buy a warm coat so that you'll not be chilled when you enter a house or an apartment.

And a visit to the woolen underwear counters isn't a bad idea at all—you'll be right in style.

HOMEMADE KRAUT ON WINTER BILL OF FARE

October is a good time for making sauerkraut in the home, for there is plenty of fresh cabbage and the temperature is right.

Sauerkraut in tins is out for the duration, according to the latest reports from Washington, but this need not prevent Lawrence county families from having kraut and spareribs. Homemade sauerkraut can be just as good as the commercial product.

For making kraut, use cabbage that has been cut one or two days and remove the green outer leaves so that the cabbage is clean. Washing will dilute the sugar in the cabbage.

Shred the cabbage and mix with salt in the proportion of 4 ounces of salt to 10 pounds of cabbage. Put the shredded cabbage and salt in a five or ten-gallon crock, cover with a piece of clean muslin and a paraffined wooden cover that fits loosely into the container. Put enough weight on the cover that the brine moistens the cloth but does not cover the wooden top. Take off any sum that forms on the surface of the kraut, keep the temperature above 50 degrees Fahrenheit until fermentation is complete.

As soon as the kraut is cured, remove it to a cool place or can it. For canning, warm the kraut in its own juice to 120 degrees Fahrenheit, pack in sterilized jars, partially seal the jars and process in boiling water 25 minutes. Seal the jars after processing and store them in a cool place.

Homemakers who want to make only a small quantity of kraut, can use the jar method. To make kraut this way, pack the shredded cabbage that has been mixed with the salt into glass jars, preferably two-quart ones. Place the rubbers and lids on the jars, but do not seal them tightly. Set the jars in an enamel pan which will catch the juice that bubbles out. At the end of three days when good fermentation starts, pour the juice back into the jars and complete the seal. Let the kraut ripen a month or six weeks before serving it.

In the Elks club the Cosel family gathered for a small dinner party honoring the occasion, and attending were Mr. Cosel's three sons, Nathan J., of Washington; Max, of Steubenville, and William, of Pittsburgh, and their wives. Mrs. Earl I. Kline, a Washington friend of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Cosel, joined them.

This winter he will make his home with Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Cosel in Washington.

Sonnet Studied By Poetry Group

Continuing their study of the technique of poetry, members of the Poetry Group met Tuesday evening at the public library for a very enjoyable and helpful discussion of the sonnet as a poem form.

Mrs. Carol Loupe Fisher lectured on its technicalities.

This was followed up by a discussion, by Mrs. Nita Johnson Brenner on Gabriel Rossetti's sonnets.

The work of Arthur Davison Ficke, who is the oustanding contemporary poet who uses the Shakespearean sonnet form, was illustrated by Miss Alice Sterling.

At this meeting an unusually large number of original anonymous sonnets were contributed and formed the basis for impersonal comment and constructive criticism by the group.

At the next meeting, November 3, Latin American poets will be considered.
